Hope For 28 Fades

No Sign Of Life At Sunken Tower, Rescuers Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Salvage workers reported today that there was "no further sign of life" from the sunken wreckage of a radar tower which collapsed in the sea Sunday night.

Salvage rescue operations were resumed at 6:30 a. m. At 8:20 a. m. the Coast Guard here was notified there was nothing more to indicate anyone might be alive in the underwater debris.

Tappings resembling the work of humans had been heard from below the surface Monday, giving rise to hope that some of the 28 men aboard the tower might have survived in an airtight compartment.

A sea search of the area was abandoned and rescuers concentrated on salvage and diving operations at the tower site, 70 miles southeast of New York City.

The so-called Texas Tower was wrecked by high winds and stormy seas. One body has since been recovered and another sighted but lost.

Rescue operations had been dramatically spurred Monday when enigmatic tappings and a sound which was likened to a human voice were heard coming from the tower.

Then the tappings faded.

stopped — and were not heard again.

"A realistic view," said the Coast Guard, "must be that the men in the tower are no longer alive."

During the chill black night, a flotilla of salvage and search vessels hovered near the spot where the tower stood guard as part of the Air Force's early warning system.

While searchlights and flares played eerily over the scene, teams of divers plunged into the 48-degree seas in attempts to reach the main quarters of the tower's ship-like hull.

Officers believe the tower was in an upright position, more than 50 feet below the surface. Luminous objects, believed radar domes, were spotted by a diver Monday.

Despite underwater lights, the divers found the going rough as murky water, stirred by the same storm that wrecked the tower Sunday night, lowered visibility and hampered operations.

Two of the tower's three legs were discovered still standing — but bent over as if by some giant hand. One was 10 feet and

Budget Asks $98 Million In New Taxes

Gov. Lawrence Also Seeks $82 Million In Business Levies

HARRISBURG — The Pennsylvania General Assembly was asked by the Lawrence administration Monday afternoon to increase revenue by $180,000,000 for the 1961 fiscal year.

The budget proposals by Gov. David L. Lawrence called for $98,000,000 in new taxes, and $82,000,000 to be raised by accelerated collection of business taxes.

Of the new taxes proposed, $74,000,000 would come from an additional 2 cents a gallon gasoline for an expanded highway and construction maintenance program. Such revenue is earmarked money which is not available to the General Fund.

This ran into trouble even before it was recommended to the General Assembly. President Eisenhower's federal budget proposals included a gasoline tax increase, which put two hands into the same till.

Should both state and federal proposals be adopted the total tax on gasoline would be upped from the present 9 cents per gallon in Pennsylvania. The state now collects 5 cents a gallon, and the federal government 4 cents.

Gov. Lawrence asked for only $23,700,000 in new money for the General Fund. He proposed that it be collected in this fashion:

$9,200,000 — by a new 2 per cent tax on premiums of Pennsylvania insurance companies. Out-of-state companies already pay such a levy.

$4,000,000 — by extending the 8-mill tax on bank shares to building and loan associations.

$8,000,000 — By eliminating compensation to merchants for collecting the 4 per cent sales tax. A 2 per cent commission now is paid.

$2,500,000 — By reducing to 1½ per cent the commission paid cigarette vendors for affixing tax stamps to cigarette packages. The present commission is 4 per cent.

The key to success of the governor's budget proposals lay in acceleration of the collection of business taxes. To get this $82,000,000 the state would collect in April of this year taxes on business anticipated throughout 1961.

Parking Enforcement Warning Given Drivers

Motorists were cautioned today by Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver that two parking regulations will be enforced.

The director said police will be asked to enforce a two-hour parking limit on Mulberry St. after numerous complaints that some drivers were parking for much longer times, some as much as all day.

He also warned motorists that no parking is permitted in the triangle at the intersection of St. Clair Ave. and Avondale St. Motorists and trucks may stop to load or unload but cannot park for an unspecified length of time, Copenhaver said.

Corak Backed By Democrats For 3rd Term

Presutti Also Gets Party Endorsement At Midland Meeting

Burgess Eli Corak, seeking a third term, and Rudolph Presutti, tax collector, have been endorsed by the Midland Democratic party to seek renomination to their offices at the May 16 primary.

A slate of candidates for the primary was announced today by Corak, Midland Borough and Beaver County Democratic chairman, after making several confirmations.

The slate was approved unanimously by precinct committeemen and committeewomen at a meeting Saturday evening. Offices that candidates of both parties will seek, besides Burgess and tax collector, are four councilman posts, two school director posts, justice of the peace, constable and an auditor.

Locally, the primary ballot for the borough will also include those seeking nomination for 5 election judges, and 10 elections inspectors, a majority and a minority representative for each party in each precinct.

Though judges and inspectors were not discussed Saturday, contests are expected for the posts in each precinct, Corak said.

Midland's political offices are all filled by Democrats. Incumbents were endorsed for the primary except Nicholas Zapsic, auditor. Louis Bruno was named to seek the post.

If he gets the primary nomination, Corak will seek a third 4-year term, something, accomplished last by Burgess Charles McNeill, Republican, who completed his terms in 1932.

Councilmen seeking renomination are Harvey Sponcer, a third term, William (Butch) Vinovich and Steve Germusa, Council president.

Goal Fixed At $3,077

Morris To Direct Appeal Of Wellsville's Red Cross

Thomas C. Morris, 906 Main St., has been named chairman of the 1961 Red Cross Fund Drive in Wellsville.

The goal has been set at $3,077. No date has been set for the drive. Morris will be assisted by Richard R. Grills, 504 Aten Ave., who will serve as co-chairman.

Morris, 31, has been employed at the McLain Works, Refractories Division of the H. K. Porter Co., Inc., since May 1955 as a personnel clerk.

He served two years in the Army, from December 1950 to November 1952. He served 18 months in Korea and Japan with the 21st Regiment of the 24th Infantry Division.

Morris attended Kent State University for two years before beginning work at H. K. Porter. A charter member of the Wellsville Jun-

Council Due To Consider Veto Jan. 27

Date Is Earliest To Consider Overriding Mayor's Opposition

City Council agreed Monday night to meet in special session Friday night, Jan. 27, to consider overriding Mayor Bert H. Goodballet's Jan. 7 veto of a municipal income tax ordinance enacted Dec. 29.

The special session is the earliest date state law allows Council to take a vote on upholding or upsetting the mayor's disapproval.

Mayor Goodballet's veto message, which he read to Council informally Jan. 6 when announcing his decision, was received formally last night, along with the disapproved ordinance.

Council read the message into the record without comment. Law requires it must wait a minimum of 10 days before acting to override. If Council musters enough votes, the ordinance will go into effect immediately.

Designed to produce $200,000 a year, it levies a tax of five-tenths of one per cent on all earnings and other income, including business and industrial profits. It amounts to 50 cents on each $100.

Meanwhile, E. L. Wheatley, president of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, appeared before Council to repeat his opposition to the proposed tax.

But he asserted he spoke as an individual, not a labor leader, adding: "Nobody sent me here."

Wheatley pointed out a similar tax has been rejected by the voters on three occasions. He said he "supported the Democratic ticket" in the last city election "to replace a Council that tried to ram an income tax over on the people."

"If someone wants to ask me if I have a plan to propose because I object to the present one, I have none," Wheatley said. "I don't know anything about city finances. But the people of the city have handed down a mandate on three occasions."

An income tax "would make an awful dent in take-home pay" of area workers, particularly potters, as many are unemployed or working less than a full week, Wheatley said.

"Someone said police and fire protection may be reduced," Wheatley continued. "That's possible. But I refer to the heavy vote against the tax at the last election. They indicated they're satisfied with the city with its present income."

"Organized labor generally is violently opposed to a wage tax because it's not fair. The people in East Liverpool consistently have voted against increases in real estate taxes, except in rare emergencies."

"They're like people anywhere. Their take-home pay is too low."

2 City Station Men Cited In Gas Theft Case

Secret Indictments Say Pair Received Stolen Gasoline

Two city service station operators, indicted secretly by the Grand Jury for allegedly receiving gasoline stolen from the American Oil Co. bulk plant on the River Rd., posted bonds Monday in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon pending arraignment Jan. 23.

Harry Bergener of the Y. & O. Rd., operator of Bergener's Service Station on Dresden Ave., is charged with receiving and concealing stolen gasoline valued at $130. His bond was fixed at $1,000.

Bert Willison, operator of Bert's Atlantic Service, 1812 Harvey Ave., is charged with the same offense but accused of receiving gasoline valued at less than $60. His bond was set at $500.

Three men from Chester, Wellsville and Glenmoor, including two former employees of the oil firm, were indicted last week by the Grand Jury on grand larceny charges stemming from the wholesale theft of gasoline.

James E. Scanlon, 41, of Leontonia, operator of the Scanlon Ambulance Service, posted a $1,000 bond after being secretly indicted for second degree manslaughter in the death of Woodrow Bauman, 17, of Columbiana.

Scanlon allegedly crashed a traffic signal at the intersection of Routes 7 and 14 on Nov. 3, killing Bauman, who was driving an ice cream truck.

Judge Joel H. Sharp also set $1,000 bonds for William Milhorn and Alma Milhorn, both of St. Clair Township, indicted for perjury in connection with a Juvenile Court case.

6 Missing, 4 Injured In Pier Blasts, Fire

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A spectacular fire, intensified by a strong breeze and two explosions, swept a pier at the naval base here Monday. The Navy reported six men missing and four injured. The missing men reportedly were working near a building on the pier that was demolished. The two explosions leveled the building.

The fire occurred at a facility known as a degaussing station, where ships are demagnetized. This process is necessary to prevent them from setting off magnetic mines.

In Laos Fighting

Pro-West Troops Take Rebel Base

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Pro-Western government troops pushed their way into Vang Vieng Monday and captured the strategic rebel base on the road to the royal capital of Luang Prabang after only slight resistance.

A dispatch from Associated Press cameraman Fred Waters said the town fell at 11:25 a.m. Monday after only a 30-minute battle.

Another government column was inching south from Luang Prabang, with plans for a linkup and then a turn east toward the rebel-held Plaine des Jarres. But the government's prospects were seriously dimmed by reverses on the southern front, where pro-Communist forces on Friday captured Ta Vieng, one of the government's staging bases for the planned offensive against the Plaine des Jarres.

The situation around Tha Thom, another government staging base, was confused. French sources said Tha Thom fell Sunday to rebels advancing from Ta Vieng.

Other sources said it was still in government hands. Waters reported rebel Capt. Kong Le had left 500 defenders in Vang Vieng and that they fell steadily back before a determined government push launched at dawn Monday. The government force was supported by rocket and machinegun fire from the Laotian army's four U.S.-supplied trainer-fighter planes.

The Soviet Union protested to the United States Monday that the rocket attacks in Laos by the U.S. supplied planes "tend to widen the conflict in Laos and to create a highly dangerous situation in that area."

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, in a warning to U.S. ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson against American aid to Premier Prince Boum Oum's armed forces, said it was learned the Americans also intended to turn over some F4 Thunderjet fighters.

In Washington, State Department press officer Lincoln White said he knew of no American plans to send jet fighters to Laos.

2 Republicans To Run Again

Orr, Sample Seek City Council Posts

Two veteran Republicans who left City Council seats at the end of 1959 will be candidates again in the May 2 primaries.

They are Robert W. Sample Jr., 606 McKinnon Ave., and William Y. Orr, 922 Princeton Ave., both planning to seek nomination as councilman-at-large. Sample filed for a ballot place today with the County Election Board and Orr announced his candidacy.

Two more candidates filed overnight. Ray A. Hempstead, 705 Sunset Dr., Lisbon, a Republican, entered for renomination as clerk-treasurer of Lisbon and Paul M. Howard, a Democrat, filed for councilman-at-large in Salem.

Both Sample and Orr were defeated in the 1959 general election. Orr served three terms as Second Ward councilman, heading the franchise committee in all 6 years of his term.

Orr has been employed 24 years

Guilty Pleas Filed In Court By 8 Indicted

Chester Man Enters Lone Denial During Hancock Hearings

Eight of the 10 defendants named in indictments returned by the Hancock County Grand Jury entered guilty pleas when arraigned Monday in Circuit Court in New Cumberland. One case was continued.

The lone innocent plea was entered by John F. Ward, 32, of Adolphus St., Chester, who was named in an indictment charging felonious assault of Patrolman Clarence Lemmens of Chester June 11.

Judge Ralph Pryor set Jan. 24 at 9:30 a. m. as the trial date for Ward.

Ward's trial will be the only one arising from 15 indictments returned by the Grand Jury Jan. 10.

Two men indicted on breaking and entering charges involving theft of tools and equipment from a maintenance shed at Waterford Park race track Oct. 4 were among those arraigned.

Russell Lightner, 20, of West Point entered a plea of guilty to breaking into the tool shed at the

Rink Request Withdrawn

Religious Groups Scuttle Return Of Sunday Skating

A virtual storm of protest from church members and pastors apparently rang the death knell Monday night to a move to legalize Sunday roller skating in East Liverpool.

Faced with a chamber crowded with both parishioners and ministers, Council announced it did not intend to consider the liberalized skating ordinance "at this time" and invited persons on both sides of the issue to seek a conference later to express their views.

But James V. Flasco of Idaho Ave., who sought the change in the ordinance in advance of opening a new rink, publicly withdrew his request and said he had no idea it would arouse such a storm of protest.

At present Sunday roller skating is banned under an ordinance that dates back about 20 years. Council was scheduled to consider legislation that would permit operation of rinks on Sunday between 1:30 and 5:30 p. m. Flasco, chairman of the East Liverpool Democratic Central Committee, expects to open a new rink Saturday in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Building on Minerva St.

Three ministers spoke before Council last night, opposing the proposed change as individuals and as members of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association.

Councilmen said they received as many as 48 telephone calls over the weekend from church members opposing the change, as announcement of the pending legislation apparently was made from several pulpits Sunday.

Opposition was voiced by the Rev. James Gardner of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church, president of the Ministerial Association; the Rev. James Hinton, speaking as pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene and

$2.2 Billion Proposed In 'Needs Plan'

'Hold Line And Do Nothing' Suggested As Other Alternative

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says the Republican legislature has a choice: Tax and spend another $15 per capita in the next two years and progress — or hold the line and do nothing.

The Republicans, who have complained about the DiSalle-inspired tax increase of $311 million two years ago, don't see it quite the same way.

DiSalle employed the unusual tactic Monday night of submitting two budgets, Alternative I and Alternative II.

The first, he told the lawmakers in his budget message as they returned to Columbus for their third work week, is a do-nothing budget which simply would pay for existing programs in the next two years, allow for no new state buildings in the period, and leave the state flat broke at the end of the period.

The second would cost the taxpayers an extra $150 million—$75 million for capital improvements and about $71 million for program improvements in education, mental health and corrections, welfare and others.

Nearly $40 million of the $71 million would go into education—elementary, high school and state universities—to increase teacher salaries and such things. These improvements would be over and above the costs involved in natural population growth of the schools.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, Logan County Republican, and Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, took the view:

"This message without an appropriations bill to go with it is meaningless."

The governor has announced the actual appropriations bill will be delayed until mid-February, but sections will be available before then, if needed.

The legislative leaders wondered aloud why DiSalle gave the speech while still lacking a proposed appropriations.

"It is fantastic and wholly irresponsible in a fiscal sense," Cloud told newsmen. "I sort of have a feeling that if he (DiSalle) had been governor the last eight

Local Money Sidestepped By Governor

By DUANE E. CROFT

Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle sidestepped in his budget message Monday night the knotty problem of how to provide more state money for local governments.

Instead, he dumped the hot potato right into the laps of the Republican-controlled General Assembly.

He made it clear he takes a dim view of any proposals to reduce the state's share of present revenues for the sake of helping local subdivisions.

He made only one specific suggestion on the subject — that changes in the pre-emption doctrine be considered to open up new tax sources for local governments to tap for themselves.

In the face of suggestions that more local street and road money be supplied by shifting the $14 million annual cost of the Department of Highway Safety away from motor vehicle license fees, DiSalle proposed an increase of more than

Gift Of Red Cross

City Now Owner Of Rescue Craft

An outboard motor boat and a skiff which have been kept at Central Fire Station for years for use in rescue and disaster work were donated officially to the city Monday night by the East Liverpool Red Cross Chapter.

Notice of the gift was contained in a letter from James Walker, district chairman of the chapter, who said the Red Cross hopes only that the equipment will remain at Central Station and will be "used and maintained as in the past."

He said the equipment cost the chapter a total of $1,700. It includes a 16-foot boat powered by an 18-horsepower motor and a 13-foot aluminum skiff designed for use in shallow water.

COUNCIL approved a motion formally accepting the chapter's gift.

Council received an official notice from City Engineer George S. Bloomgren that an assessment of $4.97 per front foot against property-owners will be required to cover the cost of the Beechwood sanitary sewer project, completed in the winter of 1959-60. Council ordered service of formal notice of the assessment on the property-owners.

The overall cost of the work was $47,822, with $4,372 as the city's share, leaving the balance to be paid by special assessment, Bloomgren wrote.

Council received a 1961 budget request from Police Chief Americo Radeschi asking a total of $169,128. It includes $156,030 for departmental operations and $13,098 for the "Meter Maid" division. Wages would account for $113,700 of the police department request.

THE CHIEF requested a pay increase for the department without specifying an amount. All four cruisers need replacement, he said. The department also needs a patrol truck as a patrol wagon in which to haul prisoners, particularly inebriates, the chief added.

The claims committee was given a $2,000 bill against the city filed by Marion Congo, 790 Pennsylvania Ave. Congo said water seeped into his cellar about a year ago while a new main was being laid along the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd."

Robert Laughlin, claims committee chairman, reported rejection of two other bills against the city, both for damage and expense allegedly resulting from sanitary sewers backing into the cellars of homes. Willard Palmer, 310 Needham St. sought $14 and Ronald Bolton, 315 Mulberry St., filed a bill for $61.

COUNCIL enacted an amended appropriation measure providing $242 to pay real estate taxes on 2 city-operated parking lots and allocating $774 for salaries in the sewage department office. The two items were overlooked in a temporary appropriation enacted Jan. 4.

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver said the street department will continue work today removing ice from Pennsylvania Ave., East End, starting at a point opposite Columbian Park and continuing toward Boyce St.

He said a survey shows a cost of $15.19 per truckload for ashes used on city streets. Laughlin had asked for an estimate of the cost at the meeting Jan. 4.

Councilman John Melvin commended Patrolman William A. Devon for removal of some junked cars outside a Harvey Ave. junk yard. "We've been trying to get that done for six months," he said.

COUNCIL received an invitation to attend a joint installation of officers of the Fraternal Order of Police and FOP Associates Lodges Saturday night at 6:30 at the Travelers Hotel. The meeting opened with invocation by President Charles N. Edwards.

2 Youths May Have Gotten Bank Robbery Idea From TV

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police say two youths charged with attempting to use a telephoned threat to rob a bank may have gotten their idea from a television program.

Charges of threatening abduction for the purpose of extortion were filed Monday against the two—John A. Stois Jr., 18, of Euclid, and Anthony C. DiLillo, 19, of Willoughby.

The alleged holdup attempt was directed against the Cleveland Trust Co. branch at 705 E. 185th St. Friday. Adelbert Kaiser, assistant manager, said he received a telephone call from a man who ordered him to give $150,000 to a man in the bank wearing a gray hat. The caller warned that Kaiser's wife was being held hostage.

Kaiser pressed an alarm button, and Stois, wearing a gray hat, was arrested.

Police found Mrs. Kaiser at home alone and unaware of what had happened. The telephone line had been cut outside the Kaiser residence.

Detectives said examination of marks where the line had been cut indicated that pliers found in the car Stois drove had been used on the wire. DiLillo, whose car Stois was driving, had a slip of paper in his pocket on which he apparently had written the name of the manager of the bank, police said. The bank manager is on sick leave.

Both youths have denied trying to rob the bank.

Detective Lt. Thomas P. White said a similar holdup attempt had been depicted on a television program. On that program the family of a bank messenger was held hostage. A telephone caller instructed the messenger to hand over the money to a man in the bank, threatening harm to the family.

Ike Nixon And Morton Fail To Attend Transition Ball

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans held a transition ball Monday night and not much happened.

There was dancing and drinking, a few laughs and a new fight song nobody got very excited about. But the worst blow was that the top brass—especially President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon—didn't show up at all. Not even the Republican national chairman, Thurston B. Morton.

The 900 or so energetic Republicans who did come had a fine time dancing till midnight to a jazzy, 13-piece orchestra. But it wasn't what you'd call a gala. As Chairman Lyman Brownfield of Columbus, Ohio, put it: It was the first time a transition ball was held and "People wouldn't take it seriously." Especially, it seemed, in the midst of a Democratic inaugural week.

Eaton Patrolman, 48, Disarmed, Beaten Up

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Patrolman Robert E. Watt, 48, of 900 N. Garfield) Eaton was admitted to Grandview Hospital here for treatment of injuries received when he was disarmed and beaten early today.

A 43-year-old Dayton suspect is being hunted throughout the Montgomery and Preble County areas.

Authorities said Watt had halted the Dayton man, who was driving an automobile, on suspicion. He was jumped and beaten and then disarmed. The Dayton man's car and the officer's revolver were abandoned later at Germantown and the man fled on foot, sheriff's deputies said.

Watt's condition is reported as satisfactory.

Queen Victoria was the sovereign ruler of Britain for 64 years from 1837 to 1901.

County Official Faces Embezzlement Charges

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Summit County Prosecutor John S. Ballard said he will file embezzlement charges today against a county official accused of taking some $3,000 in building permit fees over the last three years.

Ballard said Jack F. McKelvey, office manager in the Building Department, had admitted taking the money. McKelvey was dismissed from his job Jan. 5, according to Anthony J. Horack, county building inspector.

Blast, Fire Fatal

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—An explosion and fire killed George Staganakis, 75, in his locked room here Monday. Police said Staganakis, also known as George Stall, apparently used a flammable liquid in trying to start a wood fire in a stove, and flames shot out.

Woman Hurt In Fall On Ice

A city woman, injured in a fall on ice, was admitted Monday to City Hospital. Four area residents were treated after mishaps yesterday.

Mrs. Hazel Baumgarner of Midway Ln. is in "good" condition today with a fractured left arm suffered in a fall on ice on St. Clair Ave. on the way to work.

Mrs. Nettie Wright of Lycia Ave., Chester, was treated for an injury to the right hand received when caught in a washer wringer at home.

Ronald Ream, 33, of Clark St. suffered an injury of the right shoulder when he fell out of the driver's seat of a truck while backing.

Grover Dyke, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dyke, 1102 Dresden Ave., received a laceration of the left foot when he stepped on a tin can.

Douglas Reynolds, 35, of 131 E. 3rd St., a cab driver, was treated for an injury to a finger on which a car door closed.

No Disorders In Georgia U. Integration

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—The University of Georgia passed a day and night of integration without serious violence and school officials hoped firm action by local authorities against rowdiness would prove effective.

The second entry of Charlayne Hunter, 18, and Hamilton Holmes, 19, Atlanta Negroes, effected by repeated orders of a federal court caused no disorder among the 7,500 white students.

Rumors spread over the city Monday that a new demonstration was planned for Monday night. The campus was quiet, however, and officials hoped that disciplinary measures against those identified with last week's disorder would restore normal conditions.

A few coeds carrying small satchels or overnight bags were seen leaving Myers dormitory Monday night. Miss Hunter is housed in that building. Dormitory sources said the girls are planning to stay with friends in sorority houses or homes in the city until excitement over the presence of Miss Hunter ends.

Tri-State Band Proposed With Interested Adults

Organization of an adult Tri-State district concert band is being considered by Vincent Maola, East Liverpool High School band director.

Any former city, Chester, Wellsville, Newell or Midland band musicians or anyone interested in playing with such a group may notify Maola at the high school this week.

The band would probably rehearse once a week, and would play for concerts or for community programs during the whole year.

It would be directed by Maola and Peter D'Argenzio, director at Westgate, and would probably utilize music now in the high school library.

Details on site of rehearsals and other matters have not been worked out pending reaction to the call for interested musicians, Maola said.

Maola may be reached at the high school by phoning FU 5-1130 from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Registration should be made by Friday.

A Tri-State band was organized briefly about seven years ago, but played only during the summer season.

Kennedy Gets Compliment From Graham

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy leaves Florida's sunshine for Washington today with his new administration essentially manned and an unforeseen accolade for abating religious tensions.

This compliment came Monday night from the Rev. Billy Graham, the Baptist evangelist who is a close friend of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, and who gave the invocation at one of Nixon's big campaign rallies.

Newsman covering Kennedy, the first Roman Catholic to be elected president, knew he and Graham had a lunch and golf date but they caught their breaths when the president-elect and the evangelist, both sunburned and in high spirits, strolled into the press room.

Yes, Graham said in reply to questions, they had talked about religion and, "I told the president-elect I thought his election had helped relations between the churches. Certainly a better understanding between the Protestant and the Catholic churches in the United States has emerged from the election."

Moreover, Graham said that while Nixon and his Republican running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge were to be commended "for not using the religious issue," Kennedy equally rated commendation "for facing it forthrightly—I think he eased many fears by his forthright statements."

Appointment of a Nobel prize-winner in chemistry, Chancellor Glenn T. Seaborg of the University of California, as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission filled one of the few remaining vacancies in the upper levels of the Kennedy administration.

Newspaper Ad Sales Expected To Show Increase

CHICAGO (AP)—Trade winds are blowing favorably for newspaper advertising, an advertising executive stated Monday.

"The breeze is up, the sails are filling," said Hobart T. Franks, advertising director of Atlanta Newspapers, Inc.

He made the keynote speech at the opening session of the meeting of the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.

Franks said he wasn't making that prediction for the over-all economy.

"To the contrary," he added, "the forecasts indicate that industry will be bucking a head wind for several months to come."

"But when business leans into the wind, when sales gains are neither automatic nor easy, when industry knows that money invested in marketing and advertising and sales programs must produce against odds, then newspapers have the optimum climate for this voyage to the future."

Franks called the newspaper the "champion hard sell medium of all time," and he said: "When goods must be moved and nothing else will budge them, newspapers inevitably dash to the aid of ailing products."

Sewer Links Suggested To End Pollution

EAST PALESTINE — A proposal that residents outside the city connect with the municipal sewer system to end pollution of streams running through town was presented by Columbiana County commissioners at a meeting with City Council Monday night.

Council recently protested to the commissioners and the county Board of Health that sewage was getting into streams flowing through town from the north and northeast.

Commissioners Walter A. Hunston and Galen Greenstein and Harry Stockdale, county sanitarian, attended the meeting. About 10 residents from the outlying districts were in the audience.

Hunston, acting as spokesman for the commissioners, urged the residents of the area to adopt a voluntary plan of joining to the city sewage disposal system. He said this would be preferred to a state ordered program of erecting a separate plant.

Hunston said the commissioners would assist in the program by aiding in engineering and planning but said those getting the service would have to pay the bill for trunk lines and their own private lines.

He recommended citizen committees be appointed to contact those who oppose such a measure.

Council members made a general suggestion that while the property owners are joining the sewer system they also become annexed to the city at the same time. This has been a touchy subject, with many opposing the move.

Specific trouble areas for sewage named were Rogers Addition, Neely Manor and N. Market St. Ext.

Hunston said a separate plant would cost over $15,000.

In other business, Council petitioned Common Pleas Court by resolution to allow the transfer of $10,000 from the parking meter fund to the street department to pay for a street cleaner purchased last summer and a new truck.

Bright Lights Removed After Demonstration

Three fluorescent fixtures, the last word in business district lighting, were removed Monday by Ohio Power Co. crews after a two-month demonstration to show the difference between the new and old.

Old-fashioned fixtures replaced the new type, two of which were on the south side of E. 5th St. between Washington St. and Crook Alley and the other on the north side about midway between the others.

The installation of the fixtures on a trial basis was arranged by the utility and the East Liverpool Merchants Association. The lighting demonstration was the project of the downtown improvement committee and the executive board of ELMA and was arranged in cooperation with City Council and the administration, which also were interested in the new system.

both second terms, and Joseph Hibbard, who was appointed to the unexpired term of Arthur Reed, his first.

George P. Griffin will seek re-nomination to a third term as justice of the peace. School directors James Morrison will seek his second nomination and Edward Cilli, who was appointed to the unexpired term of John Kane, his first.

Bernard Gallagher of Midland Heights will seek his first nomination as constable. He is filling out the unexpired term of Orlan Anicrile and is a former Glasgow Borough constable.

Bruno, named as the auditor candidate, is at present an assessor and will probably resign that post.

If there were any ideas among new members of the party for endorsement to the tax collector post they were doused when the party's oldest members and officeholders motioned for approval of the slate, which gave Presutti the nod to seek a second nomination.

Griffin moved for its adoption, seconded by Joseph Hibbard by proxy for his wife, Mrs. Clara Hibbard, committeewoman of the 1st precinct. Councilman Harvey Spencer was third in line for the post.

Corak explained that by unwritten political ethics, the oldest office-holders are entitled to seek the higher office but all three refused on the grounds of continuing complete party harmony and in recognition of Presutti's outstanding work for the party.

The tax post pays about $7,500 a year, burgess $800, councilman $600, school directors nothing, justice of the peace and constable by fees and auditor $200 a year.

Those who wish to seek nomination as candidates in the primary may take out petitions Feb. 21 at the Bureau of Elections at Beaver. The last day to withdraw them will be March 13. The general election will be Nov. 7.

Solicitor's Report Filed In Council

City Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper prepared 31 ordinances and 30 resolutions for Council's consideration in 1960, he said in an annual report filed with Council Monday night.

The city won a judgment in the lone case tried in Common Pleas Court during the year, but the case now is pending in the District Court of Appeals, the solicitor reported. One other case was filed by the city against a property-owner. It still is pending.

The solicitor said he secured easements from property-owners along the route of the Carpenters Run trunk line interceptor sewer and handled details of a land purchase on E. 2nd St. as a site for a city garage. There was one bond issue and three notes issues during the year.

In addition to acting as counsel for city officials, offices and boards and the Board of Education, the solicitor represented the city at hearings in Columbus to protest rate increases sought by the Ohio Valley Gas Co. The city code and state law require the solicitor to file an annual report.

Fortune was cited for driving left of center and will receive a hearing before Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville.

Brush Cutting Will Begin For Freeway Job

The first of two firms which hold contracts for construction of the $6 million California Hollow-West End Freeway established a construction headquarters today in East Liverpool, expecting to begin small-scale operations Wednesday morning.

The firm is Chapin & Chapin of Norwalk, which holds a contract for enclosing a section of Carpenters Run and relocating a stretch of sanitary sewer along the right-of-way for the new four-lane highway.

Chapin & Chapin established its headquarters in a building in the 1700 block of Dresden Ave. that was vacated for the freeway right-of-way.

A spokesman said work will begin on a small scale tomorrow morning, clearing brush from the right-of-way. Only a five-man crew will be required at the outset and most of the workers already have been hired, the concern said. It will use two chain saw operations and three laborers to stack the brush.

The concern said it expects to hire all local labor. Its operations will not get underway on a larger scale for at least a month, the concern said. Delivery of pipe will signal the start of large-scale operations. The brush cutting tomorrow will begin around W. 9th St. and continue toward the Newell Bridge.

The general contract for the freeway is held by Baker & Hickey of Columbus. Its crews are not expected here before mid-February.

years we'd be talking about a $4 billion budget."

"The time has come," the governor said in his message to a joint session of the legislature and in a prior three-hour briefing session with newsmen, "when we in Ohio must grow up and meet our responsibilities as mature people without trying to make goats out of anybody."

"There are those who have been going up and down the state proclaiming that we (the Democrats) have levied $100 million in taxes we don't need to run the state."

"Anyone can go around making speeches telling people what they want to hear. The time has come when we ought to tell them what they ought to hear."

"Every dime they (the Republicans) cut off of this budget will have to be made up someday. . . . It may even lead into a state income tax or other drastic action."

So the line was drawn for what may become the historic 1961 battle of the budget.

In contrast with his 1959 pressure for a specific tax program, DiSalle told the Republican legislature he plans to make no tax recommendations.

"You can either move forward or backward," he told the lawmakers. "You really cannot escape that choice."

The governor pointed out a number of state programs now on the lawbooks contain so-called built-in financial increases from year to year because the number of people involved in them grows constantly. Aside from those escalator increases—estimated at $149 million in the next two years—the governor recommended only a handful of appropriation boosts to meet what he called definite needs.

Some Thoughts On Development

The weekend mail contained a photograph and story about a new chemical plant being constructed in the northern part of Columbiana County on a site obtained for a Pennsylvania firm through efforts of the Salem Area Development Corp.

The following letter accompanied the clipping: "Why can't we have some sort of development group in this vicinity? Possibly call it the Tri-State Area Development Corp.?" "Why can't your paper get behind something like this?"

Such constructive thoughts are encouraging. They indicate the writer is deeply concerned about the district's future. Such concern is — and has been — shared by The Review and many others.

We feel very strongly, however, that the effort already is being made in the form of the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council. The Council, since its organization several years ago, has shown off the natural resources and other advantages of the region to hundreds of industrialists interested in new sites on which to expand their enterprises.

The Development Council is made up of communities in southern Columbiana County, Jefferson, Belmont and Harrison counties in Ohio and Hancock and Brooke counties in West Virginia — all situated on the Ohio River.

THE EAST LIVERPOOL area is playing a major role in the UOVDC.

Business leaders from East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell have been pioneers in the Council's development. They have held — and still hold — responsible executive positions in the organization. They are giving of their time and their energy to promote the district industrial-wise.

And, in reply to the writer's question, we point out that The Review has supported the development Council's efforts extensively both in its news and editorial columns. This newspaper also has assisted the UOVDC in a financial manner with a yearly membership.

This question probably comes to the letter-writer's mind immediately: "This being true, what do we have to show for the Council's efforts to date?"

In the corporate limits of East Liverpool itself, little in a tangible way. But up and down the valley as a whole, chemical plants and other facilities are springing up which help bolster the over-all economy.

Many have turned to the valley because of groundwork laid by the Council. We repeat here an opinion expressed before: What is good for the upper valley as a whole should prove good for the East Liverpool district in the long run.

THIS MUST BE kept very clearly in mind. The fact that we have a development council — the present one or another one as the writer suggested — does not mean that new industry is going to flock to East Liverpool or any other given community.

The competition for such industry is fierce and never-ending. There are many similar development councils scattered across the United States, each with a burning desire to benefit the locality it serves.

It also should be pointed out again that while we have the Ohio River to offer, we also are limited to a considerable degree by lack of level ground to dangle before a prospective "customer". We have few 30-acre sites such as those turned up by the Salem group.

Another phase of industrial development that must not be overlooked is the responsibility of the community itself.

When industry turns to an area, it not only considers the physical properties available — land, resources, etc. — but gives equal attention to the type of community in which or near which its new facility is to be located.

If the community itself shows unmistakable evidence of progressiveness, the chances of new plants are increased immeasurably. If the choice lies between two areas, the community which is on the move in all probability will land a new plant, not the community which has become stagnant.

Whether realized or not, the individual resident plays a vital role in area development through his or her approach to community problems.

The Review is confident that the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council is doing all possible to help the district. And it is our understanding that an even more comprehensive program is being prepared this year.

It is questionable whether another such organization would serve a useful purpose at this time.

Including Multiple Money Belts

It is none of the public business how many shares of copper stock, preferred shares in shipping companies, bonds in public improvement projects and equities in manufacturing concerns a United States senator owns.

No one inquires about his holdings in banks, investment trusts, or whether or not he has an open account with a broker. It is assumed that public officials of congressional stature are above feathering their own nests with public decisions. No one would dream of accusing them of raising interest rates to fatten the value of their bank holdings, or rattling a sword in its sheath to boom the price of copper.

Many of them have been so solicitous of their good names they have abstained from voting on certain issues, lest they be suspected of self-interest. This also has been true of judges, who are assumed to be men of honor until proved otherwise. They have the benefit of the doubt.

But no benefit of a doubt is allowed by senators to men who are appointed to presidential cabinets and sub-cabinet positions. Instead, the senators have been following a policy which implies that any citizen willing to give up a good job to work for the government must prove himself innocent of skulduggery or be branded a blackguard.

Two members of the Kennedy Cabinet are about to be given the full senatorial treatment—Robert S. McNamara, who will be secretary of defense, and Douglas Dillon, secretary of treasury. Both are men of influence willing to work for their country at heavy personal loss. Mr. McNamara's loss is estimated at $3 million in foregone profits for the next four years. He is putting his investments into an irrevocable trust for his stay in Washington. Mr. Dillon is going to be affected by a public law that says the secretary of treasury may not even own a government bond.

President-elect Kennedy is converting all his investments into government bonds, on the other hand, which will have the effect of curtailing his personal income. Both President Eisenhower and President Hoover established trusts, to keep senators from accusing them of manipulating the country to pad their returns on investments. All this to appease the U.S. Senate.

Yet, no one ever asks the senators to tell where their investments lie. A few have done so voluntarily as a gesture of fair play. All due credit to them. But their rule is that Cabinet and sub-Cabinet officers must come to the throne of public service in the gleaming, glistening purity of financial nakedness while senators may wear what they please, including multiple money belts.

Among the curious customs that have grown up in the republic, this is one of the "curiouser."

The Once Over

Switch of Jim Hagerly from Washington government to radio and TV is in itself a "Western," considering that the election had many features of cowboy violence. It featured neck-and-neck bronco race across prairies and wound up with Jim losing out to Mr. Salinger in a sort of "Okay Corral Battle."

Hagerly comes to TV after eight years playing Wyatt Earp to the President, searching every stagecoach for bad hombres and beating many a troublemaker to the "draw." Both Ike and Jim had it rougher than all the town marshals in movies or TV, and this includes Bart Masterson, and the stars of Laramie, Wells Fargo, Rawhide and Tombstone Territory.

The minute the youthful pioneer "Boston" Kennedy came galloping in to take over the Potomac reservation, "Tex" Goldenson of ABC, got "Honey-moon" Daly out of the saddle and lassoed Hagerly. At first Jim thought maybe he had been captured by the Indians.

It muddled the public, which wasn't sure whether Hagerly was being made another character in Wagon Train or invited to open a desk in a new job. Jim formally accepted the other day saying "Yup" in Gary Cooper manner to question "Are you cutting off unemployment at the crossroad?"

Jim is now taking a period of adjustment to cowboy hats, probably realizing that in ABC men have been shot from saddle fairly often when ambushed from a special conference on ratings. Hagerly will be a veep in charge of special events, news and public affairs.

In the special events field he had eight years experience in presidential press session quiz show, "This Is My Life," and "Sometimes You Can Have It." He is a natural in news matters. But public affairs?

By H. I. Phillips

It all depends. Will he schedule any with Democrats in the east?

Hagerly's salary is reported at $50,000 a year, twice that he got in Washington combat zone enduring more roughage than Hugh O'Brian, Robert Culp, Dale Robertson or Steve McQueen. (That's easy to understand. Washington hasn't the money to spend that show biz has.)

A NEW YORK HOSPITAL manager has been arrested charged with stealing $45,000 of hospital funds. It will be ironic if he calls medical experts to prove he was sick. Harvard may have to put up a sign "CLOSED ON ACCOUNT OF WASHINGTON." On subject of signs, big laugh during Mr. Kennedy's visit to Harvard was one over dormitory where he roomed, "This Is A Depressed Area."

Not until the Centennial of the Civil War has there been proper emphasis on the rare personalities of Generals Lee and Grant. West Pointers both, Lee was highly regarded always but Grant was a seedy failure held so cheaply in his own town of Galena that he was called "Useless" instead of Ulysses.

In movies it would be called too far-fetched but Grant, out of the Army and a shabby looking failure, began the Civil War by drilling a home-town regiment. When it left for the front, other men led it to the station, while Grant trailed along almost unnoticed. Yet in this overlooked figure was the man destined to lead the largest army in history up to that time and smash through to victory.

Soon after his drilling activities, he went to McClellan's quarters to offer his services as a West Point grad and Mexican War veteran. McClellan refused to see him. He was a target for bitter abuse through most of the war, even in victory, but wound up President of the United States.

Old Rocking Chair's Got Him

The Red Men Battle The Unions

By Victor Riesel

McALLEN, Texas

While flying down to the Rio Grande I sought out Indian experts and inquired about the Navajo tribal council war against America's labor unions.

This was a serious inquiry. I would not degrade the dignified leaders of some 90,000 Navajos — the largest tribe in the land — with a report written around words such as warpath, tomahawking the enemy, smoking pipes of peace or gags about wigwams and smoke signals.

The fact is that for two years now, Paul Jones, chairman of the 74-man Navajo tribal council, and his colleagues have been fighting to keep unions off their 25,000-square mile reservation.

They've taken their battle into the U.S. District Court of Appeals — a long way from Mexican Hat, Utah, where it all started.

MEXICAN HAT is up at the northern end of the Navajo reservation which stretches across Utah, New Mexico and Arizona. It's loaded with uranium.

There the Texas Corp. and New Jersey Zinc Co. jointly run the Texas Zinc Mineral Corp. which ships more than $5 million worth of uranium extract annually to the Atomic Energy Commission installation in Colorado.

It isn't a big plant. There are only 87 production, maintenance, transportation workers and service station attendants. Of these 47 are Indians and 40 are not.

Just about a year ago the United Steelworkers of America decided to unionize them. Along came the Operating Engineers and the Hod Carriers. They, too, wanted jurisdiction.

The Navajo tribal council fought them off, with slings and arrows of outraged principles. But the tribe did not declare war until it gave the union men a hearing.

The Indian leaders were not enlightened. No one could truly explain why three unions should be fighting for their 47 tribesmen. No one could explain why the three labor organizations, the steelworkers, the hod carriers and the operating engineers should be fighting among themselves.

FURTHERMORE, the tribal elders did not like what they had heard and read about corruption and misbehavior in some unions. They did not want to become involved.

And, said the Navajos, they themselves had swifter, more effective methods of handling labor relations. Grievances inside the plant, or in any of the other booming businesses on the reservation — which is the size of West Virginia — are handled on the spot.

Indians with a gripe, or against whom the foreman has a complaint, are heard by the council. If the Indian grievance has no merit, he is told to go right back to work.

If employers are found guilty of unfair practices, they are told to remedy them immediately. Otherwise they are told to get off the reservation.

The Navajo council simply believes that its people — despite the number of young men who went off the reservation to fight for the U.S. and returned more worldly than when they left — are still too inexperienced to be signed up by outside union agents.

The council, therefore, has passed a resolution stating that tribe members who engage in union activity on the reservation get 30 days at hard labor. Non-Indians are banished for a similar "offense."

NAVAJO CHAIRMAN Paul Jones now 65, went into the federal courts to beat off National Labor Relations Board directives that he and his council permit union elections at Mexican Hat.

Jones argued that his people had a treaty with the U.S., signed in 1863, which gave them autonomy in return for giving up the right to make war. The treaty, say the Navajos, gave them the power to keep any one off the reservation except soldiers and other legitimate agents of the U.S. government. NLRB officials are not authorized U.S. agents, assert the Indians.

So, the tribal council wants them to stay off the reservation and not run a union representation election. This would exempt Navajo industry from the labor laws.

Labor had better look to its public relations, if this is what the original Americans think of it.

Political Volunteers

By Raymond Moley

LOS ANGELES

There appeared recently in The Wall Street Journal a letter from a young man who, in the recent presidential campaign, found it difficult to find a means of working effectively in behalf of the Republican ticket.

First he made a contact with the Republican County Committee, which sent him to his local district organization.

He found no means of serving there and then joined the Nixon-Lodge volunteers. But, after the election, he still wants to serve in some way as a volunteer and again he finds the regular Republican party ineffective.

His problem is a very common one. There are hundreds of thousands like him. And his difficulty in finding it possible to work in the Republican ranks explains in large part what is the matter with the Republican party over the nation, especially in the larger cities.

The fault does not lie either with such disappointed volunteers or with the duly constituted officers of the Republican party organizations in the counties and communities.

It is not easy for poorly financed and struggling party organizations to use willing volunteers effectively. They have no year-around working organizations such as are the rule in the Conservative party in England. Everybody is more or less a volunteer, with a living to make and little time to build up the party at the precinct and grassroots level.

THE SOLUTION is an organization that stands between the willing volunteers and the legally constituted party — an organization equipped to recruit, train, and use volunteer help.

There is such an organization in Los Angeles County. It is called Republican Associates. It was organized nearly 10 years ago, when the idea was suggested to public-spirited Republicans by the experience in Ohio in 1950, when many such groups were formed to help re-elect Sen. Taft.

In 1950 in Ohio, the Republican party had an outstanding candidate in Taft but a rather weak organization. On the other hand, the Democrats had a mediocre candidate but the immensely powerful auxiliary help of the political agencies of the labor unions.

In a very few weeks, in many cities of the state, an auxiliary force of Republicans was created to offset the power of the labor organizations. It was effective and Taft won.

The Los Angeles people who founded the Republican Associates were not creating a counterweight against labor. Rather, they were creating an auxiliary with volunteer membership to assist the Los Angeles County Central Committee in getting out the Republican vote.

It has a dues-paying membership of about 5,000. It does not attempt to name or support specific candidates. That is the job of the regular Republican party organization. But in every campaign it supplies certain indispensable services to the party organization itself.

It carries on research in the voting preferences of potential voters, creates plans for successful campaigning and from time to time issues provocative, inspirational literature in behalf of Republican principles.

It aids the regular party organization in finances, in organizing meetings, furnishing speakers and writing and publishing literature and publicity.

It conducts schools for volunteers, conducts publicity institutes and campaign clinics for candidates, and establishes wide contacts with college students and other young people who want to be effective in politics.

In short, it is a service institution to help, not supplant, the party and its candidates. Over the years it has established a fine working arrangement with the party itself.

Party organizations need such auxiliaries. Republican Associates could be created everywhere, especially in large urban counties.

Since the Republican National Committee in its recent meeting in Washington declared its intention to carry on vigorously to win the congressional elections in 1962, it might well study the Los Angeles plan and promote such auxiliary organizations.

The parallel is in the Democratic party. That party in at least 200 congressional districts virtually turns over the job of electing House members to the AFL-CIO COPE.

Unless the Republican party can create such a means of harnessing the energies of the thousands who find it difficult to work in the party itself, it is doomed in 1962 to meet the same disasters it had in 1954, 1956, 1958 and 1960.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Boy Scout Troop 30 of the Wellsville Second Presbyterian Church, with George Lewis as scoutmaster, received its charter.

Rehearsals for the Wells High School Senior play, "Dodging Marriage", got under way, with Miss Jane Lowe, a member of the faculty, as the director.

Miss Edna Chancey was installed as president of the Mizpah Class of the First Baptist Church.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — John McIntosh of Madison Township was elected president of the Columbiana County Township Clerks and Trustees Association.

Midland Borough Council approved a tentative budget of $127,228.

TEN YEARS AGO — East Liverpool's general bonded indebtedness rose by $63,153 in 1950. Some 100 attended the Epiphany tea at the Parish House of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Inauguration Days

By David Lawrence

Those Of The Past Are Recalled

Inaugurations come and go, and no two of them are alike either in outward appearance or in their significance to the country.

Of the 16 presidential elections since the turn of the century, 11 didn't involve any change in the incumbent political party and, in general, a continuity of national and international policy was taken for granted.

Perhaps the strangest and most uncomfortable inauguration of all was that which occurred on March 4, 1909, when William Howard Taft, became President after one of the biggest landslides in electoral votes up to that time. The weather was indescribably bad. Rain, snow and sleet caused railroad, telegraph and telephone service to be disrupted along the entire Atlantic seaboard.

The newspapers were deprived of their customary coverage of the big event, as there was only one telegraph wire working out of Washington for most of the day. Since outdoor ceremonies and parades had to be abandoned, President Taft took his oath in the Senate chamber.

The 1913 inauguration was a different story. Woodrow Wilson was inaugurated in good weather amid a feeling of widespread jubilation among the Democrats—they had come into power for the first time in 16 years.

Four years later the inauguration fell on a Sunday, so Mr. Wilson took his oath privately at the White House. The inaugural ceremonies were postponed till Monday, when he took the oath a second time.

World War I was in progress at the time and, although Mr. Wilson had been elected in November with the slogan "He Kept Us Out of War," The United States entered the war exactly five months after election day.

The 1921 inauguration was a sad affair. Mr. Wilson, who had suffered a stroke, was unable to walk up the steps of the inaugural platform, so he was spared the necessity and spoke his congratulations to the new president, Warren Harding, in the President's Room just outside the Senate chamber.

Not for 12 years was there another change from one party to the other, and this time—in March 1933—the inauguration again had an atmosphere of tragedy though of a different kind—there were 14 million persons out of work, all the banks had been closed and a deep depression was under way.

FROM THAT YEAR on, there was not another change in party for 20 years. During that period, the second World War was in progress through two inaugurations.

In 1945, President Franklin D. Roosevelt didn't go to the Capitol for the ceremony but took the oath in public view from the balcony in the rear of the White House. His face was pale, with a sickly look. Less than three months later, he was dead.

When Dwight Eisenhower was inaugurated a second time, he had been ill a year before with a heart attack, and his opponent in the 1956 campaign—Adlai Stevenson—had warned the people that the Republican nominee might not live out his term.

Actually, as Mr. Eisenhower leaves the White House this week, he is in excellent health.

The people are always hopeful that a new president will work miracles or that he will at least give them the change they voted for.

What is the public's attitude today as John F. Kennedy prepares to take over?

Personalities, of course, influence the answers. There is a tendency always to think of the presidency in terms of the man who has just been elected rather than to analyze the underlying issues that confront him as he assumes office.

No man was more popular at the time of his inauguration than was William Howard Taft, yet four years later he saw his own party split in half. He got only 8 electoral votes and his predecessor—"Teddy" Roosevelt—who was nominated on a third-party ticket, received 88 to Wilson's 435.

FOUR YEARS can make a big difference if there's dissension within a party. That's one reason perhaps why President-elect Kennedy has been so careful lately to pay attention to the wishes of the southern Democrats—especially the professionals who kept the South from going Republican last year.

John Kennedy is a picturesque personality and he will have a colorful inauguration.

While the pre-inauguration atmosphere is about the same as it has been on every occasion in the past when there was a change of party in the White House, the leaders of the victorious party are exuding confidence that Mr. Kennedy will do a good job.

They are well aware that the congressional campaign is only about 18 months away and also that another presidential campaign will be starting within 36 months.

There isn't too much time to put into effect the reforms promised in the last campaign but unquestionably the new President will try to make a record and ask for a vote of confidence four years hence. It is taken for granted already that he will be a candidate for a second term.

How Expenses Soared

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

This gives a picture of how government expenses have gone up, particularly military expenses.

In 1950 President Truman sent his last budget to Congress before the Korean War started. It called for a total of only $42.5 billion for all government expenses. Out of the total, he said, the military needed only $13.5 billion.

Came the war. Expenses soared. The war ended over six years ago. But increased government responsibilities have kept expenses high. And military expenses, because of the intense contest with communism, have mounted. In his budget message to Congress Monday President Eisenhower asked almost $81 billion—nearly double the $42.5 billion Truman requested to cover all government spending.

And — whereas Truman asked for only $13.5 for the military, out of his total budget of $42.5 billion, Eisenhower requests $42.9 billion for the armed forces, more than Truman asked for the whole government in 1950.

But Eisenhower's budget — for the fiscal year beginning July 1 and ending June 30, 1962—will be both a memory piece and a yardstick.

In figuring a budget every agency of government has to estimate how much it will need to run another year. All these figures are reviewed and reviewed in an effort to keep them down.

This all takes a lot of time and doing, so much that the Eisenhower administration began putting together last fall the budget Eisenhower turned over to Congress Monday.

Obviously President-elect John F. Kennedy won't have time all for this. He won't submit his own budget until this time next year. But this year his administration will have spending ideas different from Eisenhower's.

Since Kennedy's ideas on what needs to be done — expressed in the campaign — go beyond anything Eisenhower had in mind in his budget, Kennedy probably will want to spend more than Eisenhower allowed for.

He'll run into a lot of criticism and heckling on this. His critics will use Eisenhower's budget estimates as a yardstick for measuring Kennedy's programs.

Still, Eisenhower was dealing in optimism in telling Congress he thought that he had figured things so closely that the government should wind up in the black.

While he suggested spending about $81 billion, he thought government income, from taxes and other revenue, would be even larger and that the country would wind up with a surplus of about $1.5 billion.

But this was optimism based on the hope that there would be a surplus only if the country became more prosperous and Congress increased postal rates and the gasoline tax and set up a new tax on jet fuel. Maybe it would, but its inclinations run the other way.

Pair In Theft Series Held On 5 Complaints

Two city men, charged with entering at least six area garages or business places over the weekend, were bound over to the Hancock County Grand Jury on five counts Monday night by Squire Eugene Allison of Chester.

Dale William Carnes, 19, of 1532 Bates St., and Gail Patrick Freeman, 24, of 807 Oakland Ave., pleaded guilty to breaking and entering three private garages in Chester and to entering a Newell garage and a Chester funeral home garage.

The pair was arrested early Saturday morning in Chester after their travels in the area had raised suspicions of officers in Wellsville and Chester.

Loft from an entering in a Wellsville television shop was found in a vacant house on Walnut St. which had been rented by one of the men.

The pair, in the County Jail at New Cumberland under $5,000 bond today, is charged with breaking in to the double garage of Ildebrando Ciccarelli and John Ciccarelli, 623 Carolina Ave., Chester.

A spare tire and wheel and canned meat were taken from the Ildebrando Ciccarelli garage and two tires were taken from the John Ciccarelli garage. Police Chief Harold Davis said. Nothing was removed from the Martin garage.

Two tires and wheels were taken from the basement garage of the Arner Funeral Home, and a large number of old coins, rated very valuable, and other collectors items were taken from storage in a garage of Kenneth McArdle, 300 Grant St., Newell.

One of the pair was spotted in a car near Arners about 1:20 a. m. Saturday by David Cowey of Phoenix Ave., and the driver fled. Cowey notified police.

The pair again joined, went to Wellsville, then drove to Newell and finally back to Chester where they were apprehended by Police Chief Davis, who had been alerted. A description of the car and license had been relayed by Wellsville police when they became suspicious.

Several TV sets, test equipment, antennas and other merchandise taken from the Kuta TV Shop of Center St. sometime Saturday morning were found in the vacant house.

Davis is checking out other items found in the loot to determine if they can link the pair to other burglaries in the area in recent weeks.

Police Chief Americo Radeschi said today the only East Liverpool case cleared so far with the arrest of the pair was the theft of some tools from a parked auto on E. 2nd St.

Site Of School To Be Chosen

Selection of an architect and site of a proposed new Southern Local High School is under way by the Board of Education, which met Monday night and heard a preliminary report on an Ohio University team's survey of the school area.

The brief report recommended the district proceed with plans to obtain an authorized state grant of $404,000 for new construction to be utilized, along with a $356,000 bond issue.

The board will meet Wednesday at the high school at Salineville to confer with various architects, and will probably select one at a meeting Wednesday night.

Plans call for the university survey team, the new architect and representatives from the four Parent-Teacher Associations in the district to meet later this month to select a site.

The survey team's report is not complete — such matters as curriculum have yet to be evaluated — but it did indicate the need for a new high school.

The board hired the Squire, Dempsey & Sanders firm of Cleveland to handle legal matters related to the proposed bond issue and school.

In other action, the board approved a temporary appropriation for three months and paid bills, including one for Title 3 aid which provides a new projector for No. 16 School.

An agreement was made with the Monroe Calculator Co. to provide six manual calculators for school mathematics and commercial classes.

Beaver Takes Custody Of Boy In Car Thefts

The youth admitted the auto thefts and Chief Probation Officer William Ambrosia of Beaver County returned the youth to Beaver County.

Alert Issued After Bogus Check Cases

A district alert to police and banks has been issued following the cashing of a fraudulent check at East Palestine and an attempted cashing at Salem Monday by a "Robert Smeltz."

The unidentified man opened a savings account yesterday morning at the First National Bank of East Palestine in the name of a supposed daughter.

He later negotiated to buy a used car at the Beck Motors of East Palestine, driving it around with Fruit of the firm, and returning with Fruit to the drive-in branch of the bank to cash a check apparently issued by Thomas Grafton of Grafton Motors of Wellsville to "Smeltz" for $240.

The man then went to Salem, and after negotiating for the purchase of a new car from Broomall Sales, attempted to cash a check from Dorrance Furniture of Lisbon to "Smeltz," also for $240, at the Farmers National Bank. He was refused however.

At East Palestine, bank officials began investigation of the Grafton check, learned from Grafton he had not made out such a check, and notified police.

Students At Midland Will Watch Inaugural

Midland Lincoln High School students will be let out of classes Friday from 11:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. to watch the presidential inauguration on their TV sets at home.

Aboriginal Explorers Group Gives Officers Fourth Terms

All officers were returned for the fourth consecutive term at a meeting of the Aboriginal Explorers Club Monday night at the home of Richard S. Thompson, 532 Maple St.

They are Harold A. Dawson of Boring Ln., president; Harry M. Cline, treasurer, and Thompson, recording secretary.

Dawson is a member of the Ohio Archeological Society and attended a seminar last summer at Wheeling College.

Thompson displayed 27 stone and flint axes. They are from the Wexley collection of Newark, which was disposed of at a public sale. Also displayed were six baskets made by the Piute Indians at Carson River, Nev.

A roundtable discussion was held on the "abominable snowman" of the Himalaya Mountains. James Woodrow reported on several rock shelters he has located in the Mingo Junction area. He said excavation of the shelters will have to wait until spring because of the frozen ground.

James Monte was appointed to care for the club's tape recorder which will be used for taping talks by well known archeologists.

Harry M. Cline gave a report on Florida Indians sending runners to a flint ridge near Brownsville, Ohio, to obtain materials for arrowheads. He said the trip both ways took about a month. The flint has a jewel-like appearance.

Thieves Loot Freezer Of School Cafeteria

Hungry thieves broke into the Port Homer elementary school over the weekend and stole nearly all the food from a cafeteria freezer.

Desks were ransacked and a high-fidelity phonograph also was stolen. The report of the theft was made to Jefferson County sheriff's deputies Sunday by Supt. C. P. Henderson.

The sheriff's office said today it had uncovered no suspects in the investigation.

Harry R. Cline said he is preparing a report on a large rock shelter he discovered along Little Beaver Creek last summer. The report will deal with the Indians who lived in this area prior to the arrival of the white man.

The report will be made into a news letter and sent to the Carnegie Institute for classification. The next meeting will be Jan. 30 at 7 p. m. with Ray Simoni of Smiths Ferry.

County Health Board Budget Asks $43,550

LISBON — The Columbiana County Board of Health proposed an estimated budget of $43,550 for 1961 at a meeting Monday evening. This is $750 less than the estimated 1960 budget of $44,300 but $2,670 more than was spent. The board completed the year with expenditures of $40,559.87. A total of $721.63 was turned back to the subdivisions as unused funds last year.

Salary increases were given to the nurse, clerks and sanitarian for this year, based on revenue prospects.

The breakdown shows estimated resources include $25,500, local taxation, townships and villages; $3,750 of federal grants-in-aid; $1,900, state subsidy; $10,000, sanitation fees, and $2,400, restaurant inspection fees.

Estimated expenses shows $13,500 for health commissioner's salary; $4,000, nurse; $3,750 clerk, and $3,150 clerk.

The estimated expenses, with 1960 in parenthesis, are:

$13,500, health commissioner; $4,000, ($3,750) nurse; $3,750, ($3,600) clerk; $3,150, ($3,000) clerk; $3,216.67, ($3,066.67) sanitarian (eight months); $4,600, inspector; $450, medical supplies; $800 office supplies; $400, board members' expense; $2,608.33, travel expenses; $1,052.87, miscellaneous; $500, workmen's compensation; $2,872.13, retirement; $250, equipment; restaurant program, $1,533.33, sanitarian salary for 4 months; sanitarian's travel, $391.67, and $475 to treasurer of state.

County Commissioners Walter Hunton and Galen Greenisen were present and asked the board to consider taking over the county TB clinic. No action was taken, however.

Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner, reported on the recent census and said the county has 58,495 persons within the jurisdiction of the health department in the county.

His monthly reports showed 7 school clinics were held and the nurse gave 32 inoculations, 152 polio shots and 4 vaccinations.

The license report showed 152 restaurants, 6 vending machines, 5 scavengers, 13 garbage permits and 9 licenses for trailer parks.

The inspector made 70 plumbing inspections and 33 of sewage disposal installation and took 15 water samples.

The sanitarian made 33 food service inspections, 8 sewage, 5 refuse, 5 water, 3 schools and one trailer court and acted in 15 nuisance complaints.

Bills of $3,418.25 were ordered paid and the board decided to again sponsor the annual Dunlap essay contest in the schools in the county. Mrs. Leona Archibald will again serve as chairman.

The next meeting is Feb. 20 at 8 p. m.

Legislation Asked

On Water And Sewage

LISBON — The Columbiana County Health Department has received a copy of legislation the State Health Department hopes to obtain in the General Assembly, providing for regulation of individual water supplies and sewage disposal systems throughout the state.

The state estimates over 20,000 septic tank systems and 12,000 well water systems are installed for one-family and three-family dwellings in Ohio each year.

Many but not nearly all of these are installed under some supervision and control of the city and county health districts.

Larger systems for apartments, institutions and all types of public buildings, as well as for municipalities, sewer districts, subdivisions, and the like, must be installed in accordance with plans approved by the Ohio Department of Health.

Opened Door Of Auto Struck By Passing Bus

The open door of a parked auto was damaged when struck by a passing bus Monday at 1:07 p. m. on E. 5th St., police said.

The mishap damaged the opened left door of a 1959 sedan owned by William L. Mautz, 66, of 1833 Michigan Ave. It was hit by a bus owned by the Inter-City Transit Co. and operated by Andrew Holtz, 49, of 824 Oak St., officers said.

Mautz said he did not see the approaching bus as he opened the door. Holtz said he noted the opening door and applied his brakes, but was unable to avoid the mishap.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Persons Should Honor Other Religions

Practically all parents wish their children might grow less self-centered and more thoughtful of other persons. They wish their children might learn to place higher values on things than on things that don't perish than on things that do; that, therefore, these children would not place the highest values on Dr. Garry Meyers satisfy their immediate appetites and desires but on values which might be satisfying to them and others at a time more remote—10 years hence, 50 years from now or even in some vague eternity.

When we look around and see other persons who espouse some kind of religion, with their differences from us and one another in the ways they worship God, we see among all these religious groups considerable emphasis on values in terms of some later time, in terms of things not made with hands or bought with price.

WE SEE emphasis on self-denial and self-sacrifice, for objectives beyond themselves in space and time.

True, some children at Sunday school or church or at home sometimes hear others pray selfishly for mere things and satisfaction of immediate appetites and they may pray for such themselves. But for the most part, children who grow up in a religious atmosphere are exercised in hearing and expressing wishes to rise above their selfish urges.

the other 25 feet below the surface.

These legs will be sheared off by divers to permit a salvage boat carrying a diving bell and diving gear to move into position directly over the tower's position.

The station, not unlike a ship, had two enclosed decks, containing recreation hall, gymnasium, swimming pool, dining areas and cabins for personnel.

The 4,300 ton, 67-foot tower had rested on its tripod sunk into the ocean bottom about 180 feet beneath the surface.

Failure to evacuate personnel from the tower before the collapse apparently was due to a decision of the tower commander, Capt. Gordon T. Phelan, 34, of Los Angeles.

Unofficial reports were that Phelan had wanted the men removed as the wind and seas rose on Sunday, but believed they could wait until daylight Monday for helicopters from the aircraft carrier Wasp. He thus advised a supply ship circling about 12 miles away.

Had Served On Tower

NEW CUMBERLAND — A New Cumberland serviceman previously served on the Air Force radar tower that collapsed Sunday night in the Atlantic Ocean.

Mrs. Paul Cullen, 82, of New Cumberland was informed Monday by telephone by her son, Col. Paul Cullen, stationed in Washington, that her son and the colonel's brother, M.Sgt. Darragh Cullen, was safe at Otis Air Base in Massachusetts.

Sgt. Cullen had been serving on the ill-fated radar tower since last July. He rotated on the job, spending 40 days aboard the tower and 15 days at Otis.

Col. Cullen told his mother that Sgt. Cullen was in the 15-day shore duty phase when the tower collapsed.

County To Aid CD Financing

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Monday agreed to pay $2,500 to help set up a county Civil Defense corps for a six-month period.

This will be matched by federal funds of same amount.

To continue to receive the funds, the commissioners must name a county-wide director and a secretary and provide traveling expenses. The total yearly expense is not to exceed $10,000.

Dog Warden Russell Reichenbach was authorized to attend the Ohio Dog Wardens' Association's meeting in Mt. Vernon Wednesday. The next meeting of commissioners will be held Thursday at 9:30 a. m.

Woman Fined In Hancock Tavern Case

A Newell tavern operator was fined $100 and costs on a charge of illegal possession of alcoholic liquor on licensed premises at a hearing this morning in New Cumberland.

Mary A. Jobe, 58, of 501 5th St., operator of Mary's Place, entered a plea of innocent to the charge filed Sunday at 10:56 a. m. by 2 Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Among those testifying in the case heard before Squire John D. Herron were Deputies Ed Frankovich of Weirton and Paul Cowey of Chester, who confiscated a quantity of liquor in Mary's Place Sunday morning while making a routine check of the tavern for violation of the Sunday 1 p. m. legal opening hour for business.

Two others offered testimony for the defendant, the squire said. They were Laverne Simms and Donald Nally.

The Newell woman's arrest was followed by a warning to county tavern owners from Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny, who said deputies would check each establishment on Sundays to enforce the 1 p. m. hour for opening business.

Instructor In Art Speaker For PTA

LISBON — Mrs. Lucille Passage, art instructor for the Beaver Local School District, explained different drawing stages of children at the meeting of West Point Parent-Teacher Association Monday evening. She used drawings from her art classes showing the three stages — scribbling, pre-schematic and realism of two types of drawers as visual and non-visual.

Various ways of raising money were discussed and the group decided on two projects — selling valentines and a spring festival.

Mrs. John Reese was elected delegate to all Beaver Local School Board meetings and she disclosed that the board is considering a centralized cafeteria. This was discussed by the group, which decided to ask Harry Greenwood, clerk of the board, to be speaker for the next meeting Feb. 20.

Mrs. Jack Poxenel reported on the membership.

Mrs. Dallas Rupp was elected to serve as chairman of the nominating committee.

Robert Charlton, president, presided.

also representing the executive committee of the ministerial Association, and the Rev. Raymond Miller, pastor of the Church of God.

Rev. Hunton's church is almost directly across the street from the VFW building. He said he based his opposition principally on incidents that annoyed and disturbed his congregation when a rink formerly operated in the same building.

"We want to make our position clear," Rev. Hunton said. "The ministers will steadfastly oppose efforts to repeal this ordinance. We feel it would lead to a general breakdown of regulations in that area. We're concerned to maintain the Christian Sabbath. It's a matter of conscience and principle."

"I have no personal quarrel with Mr. Flasco," he continued. "In the former operation, the rink operated illegally on Sunday afternoons and evenings. It created a disturbance. The noise of the hurdy gurdy music and the crowds was an interference with our efforts to worship. If this operation was permitted, we would want a strong guarantee it would close at the proper hour."

"Supervision and policing would be needed for the group that would gather there if it is like the group before," Rev. Hunton added. "Our own parking lot was invaded and our space was usurped. We contacted the police, but they said it was private property and out of their control."

"There was vandalism, hoodlums and rowdiness," the minister added. "Accessories were stolen from our cars and other parts were damaged. Women and young people of the church were insulted by loiterers."

Rev. Gardner reminded Council of the Commandment: "Remember the Sabbath Day, to keep it holy." Operation of Sunday skating would keep young people away from youth meetings in churches, he added.

"If we impoverish the spiritual training of our youth, the citizens of tomorrow will be impoverished in their faith," he added. "The youth who need to be reached will go to the rink instead of to youth meetings."

Rev. Miller said he concurred with the remarks of the other two ministers and added: "I believe we should keep God's Day holy."

"I asked Council to repeal the law, but I didn't think it would cause such a controversy," Flasco commented. "I never thought for one minute of jeopardizing the youth of our city and I didn't intend to interfere with church meetings."

Flasco said he has asked the police department for protection at the rink "before it opens, while it's in session and after it closes."

"It will be under very careful supervision," he said. "My own three children will be there and I'll certainly see that it is conducted properly. As for parking, I can't tell people where to park—that's out of my hands."

"I ask Council to disregard my application. I want the help of the Ministerial Association in gathering the children together in one place so their parents will know where they are."

Governor

one million dollars a year to strengthen the state highway patrol and urged that the money come from the same source.

In the face of suggestions that more gasoline tax money be returned to local governments, the chief executive made a strong plea for retaining the state's present share of that revenue, arguing that it must maintain a $300-million-a-year highway construction program.

As for more general fund money for local levels, Gov. DiSalle said: "In the programs of support to local government, I do recognize the difficulty with which they are faced in meeting their fiscal responsibilities. However, I cannot, with the responsibilities facing us at the state level, recommend further subsidies in areas other than public education."

After asking the legislature to study the possibility of opening new tax sources to local governments, the governor added:

"If such action is taken, it should prescribe specific areas for local action. The modification of this rule (state pre-emption) would allow local governments greater opportunity to meet local needs by their own initiative."

Actually, Gov. DiSalle is not without supporters in this view even among Republican members of the assembly.

Speaker Roger Cloud, for instance, said last week in a press conference that he has for many years believed the state should take action. He added, however, that there could be disagreement on just what form the action should take.

Already some bills have been introduced from the Republican side of the aisle to give local governments more taxing sources.

The time appears to be ripe in the 1961 session for doing more than talk about taking that big and drastic step. But that does not preclude the prospect of a lot of debate about specifics.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: A group of 16 girls, 16 and 17, had a slumber party and we spent most of the night talking about our favorite subject. You guessed it—boys.

The biggest unsolved problem of girls in our age group can be expressed in a single sentence: How does a gal get over a mad crush?

Do you have a recipe, Ann? If you don't have one handy will you whip one up? Thanks in advance. We knew you wouldn't fail us.—CAKCLERS AT A HEN PARTY.

Dear Cacklers: Here are the Landers Rules for Getting Over a Mad Crush—whipped up especially for you. I hope you will put them into practice when the need arises and let me know if they work:

1. Accept the fact emotionally (as well as intellectually) that the romance is over. Don't hang on to bits and pieces of something that's ancient history.

2. Return his picture, his ring, his sweater, his ID bracelet or anything else of value that he has given you. In brief, broom out all the old reminders.

3. Don't let yourself spend a single minute day dreaming about how things used to be. When off on such flights of fantasy the mind has a magic way of screening out all the unpleasant details. It can deceive you into believing things were better than they actually were.

4. Start dating other fellows as soon as possible. The only way to fill a vacuum is to put something else in its place.

Center Of Dispute

Dear Ann: My wife and I have been arguing about your column. She says our 11-year-old daughter should read it every day. I claim an 11-year-old can wait a few years to find out about unwed mothers, drunken husbands, wife beaters, cheaters and all the low types running loose these days.

Both my wife and I have learned some valuable things from your column but still I feel it is not good for young people. Why should they be exposed to the sordid side of life so soon? Childhood should be carefree, clean and happy with no hint of worry or suffering. Am I wrong?—INQUIRER.

Dear Inquirer: No—you're not wrong—you just have a poor memory. Was your childhood carefree, clean, happy with no hint of worry or suffering? Well, no one else had such a childhood either.

If your 11-year-old doesn't know about unwed mothers it's time she learned. Information never hurt anyone. Ignorance can be dangerous.

No one who reads this column can possibly get the idea that promiscuity, drinking, cheating and gambling are admirable. So long as this column dissects life in a constructive way I am confident it is fit reading (and a good education) for anyone who is old enough to understand the words.

Crossing The Bar

Dear Ann: Is it proper for a man who is a bartender to have his wife sitting at the bar four and five hours every evening? I can't figure out who is watching whom. In my opinion the boss should put a stop to it. Do you agree?—SIG.

P.S.: She drinks on the house.

Dear Sig: No wife should spend hours keeping her husband company on the job. If neither one knows better they should be told.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Not Much Big Action Due In Legislature

CHARLESTON (AP) — The 55th West Virginia Legislature begins its second week of work today, but there won't be much major floor action for a while.

The lawmakers are returning to their chambers at 2 p.m. after a long weekend off that allowed them time to attend Gov. Barron's inauguration. And although it's not definite yet, the Legislature may cut this week short to permit any members who might want to do so to attend President-elect Kennedy's inauguration in Washington this Friday.

Barron's address to a joint session Wednesday is the feature event of this week's legislative calendar. He will outline at that time his legislative program, which many observers expect will include a recommendation for a state tax on personal income.

Legislation implementing Barron's program no doubt will be introduced in the Legislature soon after Barron speaks, but these bills will be referred first to committees. It's not likely that the committees will take less than a week or so to work on the bills, so there will not be much, if any, major floor action for several days.

A bill to extend the temporary sales tax increase from July 1 through Aug. 31 will be awaiting final passage when the Legislature reconvenes, and it is expected to be approved quickly.

Late last week, the Legislature, at Barron's request, boosted the tax by a penny on the dollar through the end of the fiscal year—June 30. Barron wanted the additional revenue for a public works program to put jobless West Virginians back to work.

Cub Scout Pack Heads Reorganize

The reorganization and committee meeting of the Ohio Township Cub Scout Pack 426 was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Radella Friday night. Dave Laughlin, cubmaster, presided.

Richard Graham of TV Tower Rd., member-at-large of the Allegheny Boy Scout Council, spoke on "Cub Scouting." A question-and-answer period followed.

Mrs. Charles Chaffin, Mrs. Lacey Cummings, Mrs. Olen Gibson, Mrs. Joseph Radella and Mrs. F. Paul Dawson are den mothers for the five dens in the township. More men are needed to fill positions in the unit.

Pack night meetings will be held the last Tuesday of each month from 7:30 to 9. Both parents are asked to attend.

A window display in Midland is being planned for Scout week Feb. 7-12.

Floyd Kidder will serve as representative for the sponsoring organization, the Fairview Parent-Teacher Association.

William Paulovich is committee chairman.

The next committee meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Paul Dawson.

When Caught, Thief Will Get Long Stretch

ATLANTA (AP) — A thief who stole about 2,000 girdles from a suburban Chamblee plant is being sought by police.

The girdles, valued at about $50,000, were stolen from the Warner Bros Co. during the weekend.

Make Wrong Snatch

DETROIT (AP) — Two armed robbers snatched a bag from grocer Walker Thornton as he was closing his store. They didn't bother about an envelope in Thornton's other hand. The envelope held several hundred dollars in receipts. The stolen bag contained peanut brittle, pork chops and some medicine.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I mix my own wood-cleaning compound?

A. Dissolve a box of white soap chips in two quarts of boiling water. Add to this four tablespoons of turpentine and four tablespoons of household ammonia. Keep this solution in a fruit jar, apply to painted woodwork with a clean cloth, then follow with a cloth dipped in clear water. This does not injure the woodwork.

Q. What is the best way to wash cut glass?

A. In hot soapsuds. Do not attempt to dry, but leave it to drain. When dry, rub briskly with a turkish towel, as this does not leave any lint and gets down into the cuts better than ordinary toweling.

Q. Is there anything I can do about the small faded spots and seams on blue jeans?

A. A blue-ink ballpoint pen provides a good coloring agent for these small faded areas.

U.N. Forces Halt Rebels In Train Raid

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo. (AP)—Swedish U.N. troops fought off hundreds of rebel Baluba tribesmen who made three attacks on a train the Swedes were escorting in central Katanga Province.

A U.N. spokesman said the Swedes inflicted "heavy casualties" on the Balubas but that no Swedes were hurt.

The Swedish troops were escorting a train traveling south from the coal mining town of Luena, about 300 miles northwest of Elisabethville. Balubas had attacked the same train over the weekend, wounding three Swedes.

The spokesman said the train was first attacked today a few miles outside Luena by about 100 Balubas armed with old guns and bows and arrows.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Habit Helps Get Rid Of Vexing Pounds

Pre-teens and teens, do you mean it when you write that you long to get rid of the vexing pounds and bulges? Then let's have a heart-to-heart session.

The greatest favor you can do for yourself is to break the habit of over-eating. The most effective way to break a bad habit is by Ida Jean Kain to put a good one in its place. If it's eating between meals that is adding padding, tackle that habit. First, get your thinking straight. Perhaps you think that with strong will power you can deny yourself something you want. Well, power is "want power," not "won't power." Teeners, you can have what you want!

NOW BACK to that habit of eating between meals. Instead of having a soda, a candy bar, or peanut-butter crunchy crackers, eat a big, juicy apple. An apple is filling but not fattening, and the habit of eating fruit between meals will help you break the habit of stuffing on high calorie sweets.

Then tackle the habit of over-eating at meals. One helping is not inordinately fattening, but seconds, and heaven help you, third helpings are insidiously fattening. The practice of overeating at meals stretches your stomach. It's easy to get into this habit.

Now to break the habit: Tonight when you set the table for dinner, put a small plate at your place. One of your slimming sisters tried that plan and wrote that moderate servings appear adequate on a small plate.

Another teener pointed out that she ate so fast on first helpings, she had to take seconds to find out what the food tasted like. Taste first helpings. There is an even more important reason for eating slowly. It takes time to relay the message from the stomach to the brain that you have had enough to eat. Eating slowly gives nature's satiety signal time to be effective.

Finally, get yourself away from the table. . . in time. You have had one modest helping of the good food served. If the dessert was a rich one, you substituted fresh fruit. Now . . . walk away from the table. That walk of ten steps, can be immeasurably reducing. It's the perfect way to get the slimming habit!

IF IT IS your job to clear the table and put the food away, and you can't entice anyone to take over for you, then try this plan: tie a scarf or a gauze mask over your mouth. This trick may tickle your funny bone — and that makes dieting more fun.

If you are a gal with spirit you will accept this challenge and win through on it. What do you want? . . . you can have what you want! It's not what you intend to do about reducing or how you talk. It's only what you do about vexing pounds that counts.

Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for "Teen-Age Reducing Challenge." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

The "rose ceremony" followed, with Miss Sneddon distributing yellow roses to each of her officers, who in turn used them to form an arch through which the honored queen walked, signifying her retirement from office. She was accompanied by Mrs. Genevieve Hoffman, Bethel guardian.

Cunningham On All-America Team

Kenny Cunningham, who passed East Liverpool to six victories and a near upset over Alliance in the final game of the season, today became the first Potter football player ever named to a National High School All-America team.

The Sporting News of St. Louis, Mo., has selected Cunningham to the honorable mention list on the 1960 squad.

C. C. Johnson Spink, vice-president of the Sporting News, said in a letter that his paper plans to present each boy selected to one of the first seven teams and the honorable mention list with an embossed citation.

Cunningham will receive the citation during halftime of the Salem game on Feb. 3 or the Toronto contest Feb. 10, depending on when the citation arrives here.

An excerpt from Spink's letter said "this is the crossroad in the athletic careers of these youngsters. For some it will be the first of many citations on their road through college and professional sports. For others, the one piece of sports recognition of an athletic career. For all, it will reflect the outstanding achievements in football during the past year."

The National High School All-American story will appear in the Jan. 18 issue of the Sporting News.

Pony League Needs Help...

DON'T LET another baseball league die in East Liverpool! The local Pony League officials are asking the help of local businessmen in order to meet the budget for 1961.

Every time a league needs money, it doesn't seem fair to keep soliciting the businessmen. But there appears to be no other answer in this case.

The best plan for a summer program in East Liverpool would be if all the leagues could be consolidated and run as part of a municipal program, but in view of other major municipal problems, the sports program probably will have to take a back seat until some time in the future.

The Pony League which has been in existence in East Liverpool for the last eight years depends on its annual "tag day" and sponsors for funds on which to operate.

This year the proceeds from the "tag day" were not great enough to make the season a financial success. The budget for the year, according to Jim Walker, league president, is $1,400 and is made up by donations from sponsors of $300 and a donation of $150 from the Kiwanis Club.

New Baseball Field Proposed...

For next season, the league wants to develop a new baseball field in Thompson Park, a project we have pushed time after time in this column. This is the first time, however, that any group has done something about it.

The new field would cost approximately $1,000, as well as new equipment for the four teams in the league, Walker pointed out.

A good-looking ball park in Thompson Park would not only be an asset to the League but to the city.

The Pony League is comprised of four teams consisting of 15 boys per team, ages 13 and 14.

Two other leagues have died in East Liverpool over the past three years. The Prep League is no longer in existence, but it was through lack of organization and not so much funds.

Prep League ball was all a boy graduating from the Pony League could play, unless he was good enough to step up into the City League with adult players.

However, the City League also folded for the first time in years.

Midland's Anderson 'Spec-tacular'

MIDLAND High standout Carl Anderson is encountering difficulty in zeroing in on the hoop during the first quarter of last week's big game with rival Beaver.

The usually prolific scorer of the Leopards had failed to connect on any of numerous shots from long range by the time the opening period had elapsed.

Apparently realizing the plight of Anderson, Coach Henry (Hank)

Kuzma huddled with the Leopards during a timeout. His star returned to action wearing spectacles. The result was that Anderson quickly scored his first shot from far in the backcourt and went on to post 13 for the night, high for Midland.

It was plain to the alert fans who noticed Anderson donning his spectacles that poor eyesight had been his trouble. The visual aid proved valuable as the Leopards won their third straight Section 8 contest.

This 'N That In Sports...

OUR RECORD last week was a respectable 17 right and five wrong in picking winners of district basketball games. However, we missed three big ones — Midland-Beaver, Newell-Weirton, Madison and East Liverpool-Ashland.

The top game in the area tonight has us stumped right off the bat. Newell will have to come up with a hot night to overcome the scoring of Don Spires, but we think Newell can do it on its home floor. Newell 68, Stanton Local 64.

Wellsville looks like a 69-51 winner at Youngstown Woodrow Wilson, while we like Follansbee over Chester, 52-43.

The Midland Leopards may find it rough going, but could come out on top. Midland 53, Hopewell 48.

In other contests tonight, Conotton Valley 75, Salineville, 60; New Cumberland 59, Bethany 51; Fairfield-Waterford 62, Greenford 51; Snowden Township 72, South Side 48; and Salem 72, Youngstown Rayen 45.

SALEM's nifty little guard from last season, Dan Krichbaum, has broken into the starting lineup for the Wooster cagers. In Saturday's game against Muskingum, he scored 21 points to pace the Scots in a 73-64 win.

American Billiards Forfeits To Freed's In City League

Officials of the City Basketball League have ruled a forfeit victory to Freed's. American Billiards used an ineligible player in last week's game which saw the Billiard five win, 53-46.

The player went under another name and it wasn't the same name which appeared on the roster.

Chester now stands at 4-1 and holds first place. The loss to American Billiards gives them a 3-2 mark and drops them into a second place tie with Wellsville. Freed's moves into fourth place with a 2-4 mark.

Action continues Wednesday at the Westgate gym. In the opener at 6:30, George Bright's meets Wellsville while the 7:30 game pits the East End Merchants against American Billiards. At 8:30, Chester will attempt to protect its lead against Freed's.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bill Ford, Cincinnati Enquirer sports writer, is the new president of the Cincinnati chapter of the National Baseball Writers Association. Ben Garlikov, sports writer for the Dayton Daily News, was also elected as first recording secretary at the group's annual meeting here Monday night.

All-Star Games In Ohio Face Death; NCAA Ruling May End Canton Tilt

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high school all-star senior all-star North-South games—both football and basketball—hang in the balance today.

Despite a plea that the contests be given official approval, the state high school board of athletic control decided Monday night to delay action pending a full study of all phases of the postseason frays.

Approval of the games by the state board is necessary, or each participating boy would lose a year of collegiate eligibility under a ruling passed last week at Pittsburgh by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

George Hardie, coach at Youngstown Woodrow Wilson and president of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association, made a personal plea to the board for sanction of the Aug. 12 Yankee Rebel grid game slated in Canton. The all-star basketball game is June 30 in Cuyahoga Falls, under sponsorship of the Ohio High School Basketball Coaches Association.

Both games, for years, have been showcases for exhibiting Ohio's outstanding talent on the hardwoods and gridirons. Some elements believe that neither the scholastic board nor the collegiate association has any jurisdiction over the athletes involved since all have graduated from high school and none has enrolled in college.

But last week the NCAA decreed:

"He (the player) shall be denied his first year of varsity athletic competition if, following his graduation from high school and before his enrollment in college, he was a member of a squad which engaged in any all-star football or basketball contest which was not specifically approved by the appropriate state high school athletic association or, if inter-state by the National Federation of High School Athletic Associations or by the National Federation of High School Athletic Associations of the states involved."

There has been speculation that, should the state association give its approval to the annual games sponsored by the coaches associations, it might withhold approval of other all-star games which have been popping up in several sectors of the state the last few years.

The board has not too distant meetings scheduled, and a decision is expected long before the final arrangements are made for the Cuyahoga Falls and Canton games. The coaches and players for the football game have been selected, and new machinery set up for selecting the state tournament late in March.

Stanton Local, the district's only undefeated team and highly regarded among the top teams in Ohio cage circles, takes a 10-0 record to the Newell floor. The game is rated a tossup.

While Stanton has been whipping everything in sight, Newell hasn't been standing still. Coach John Robison's charges are having one of their top seasons since the state championship team of 1952.

Tonight's action will get underway at 6:45 when the two reserve teams clash. The varsity tilt should be in progress by 8:15.

Stopping Don "Wilt" Spires, a junior who is a sure bet to go down as one of Stanton Local's all-time greats, will be Newell's big task tonight.

The game matches Spires, who has been averaging more than 20 points a game, against a well-balanced Newell attack. While Spires is tabbed as the man to stop, Stanton has been receiving some scoring from other members of the team.

Bob Mills is a consistent performer and hits on an average of 15 a game. Friday against Smithfield it was Curt Rose who pocketed 20 points. Saturday at Beaver Local, John Lutton got a hot hand, making six straight field goals and finishing with 17 points. Jim Leedy is the other starter for Coach Harry Diehl's club.

Newell will start a formidable five of Tom Bell, Mick Staley, Ron Noland, Larry Hutton and Tom Woods. Bob Barnett and Dave Bell will be ready for early duty.

Newell lost its last outing at Weirton Madonna after compiling seven straight victories.

Midland has its work cut out tonight, too. Coach Hank Kuzma's team, which surprised Beaver with an upset Friday, jumps right back into the fire tonight at Hopewell.

First place, in what appears to be one of the tightest Section 8 races of all time, is at stake. Both Midland and Hopewell are deadlocked for the lead with 3-0 records.

Beaver, which was the pre-season favorite to walk away with the Section 8 crown, is hovering over the two leaders in second place, waiting for one to slip. Beaver shows a 3-1 mark.

Elsewhere, Wellsville will attempt to make it two straight over Woodrow Wilson at Youngstown tonight. The Tigers opened the 1960-61 campaign with a 79-51 victory over the Youngstown five.

Coach Jack McDevitt's squad goes into the game with a 4-3 record. After tonight Wellsville takes a 10-day layoff, playing again on Jan. 27 at Salem.

Wellsville High fans traveling to Youngstown Woodrow Wilson are advised by Don Lowe, faculty manager, of the following directions: Travel on Route 7 from East Liverpool to North Lima, turn right on Route 164 and proceed to the Woodrow Wilson High School on the right side of the highway. Fans may reach the school without driving into downtown Youngstown by following the above directions, Lowe advised.

Midland To Battle Hopewell For Lead

Nine games are listed on tonight's district basketball schedule, but one game stands out above the rest—the Newell-Stanton Local clash.

Defending State Champions Rule Ohio Basketball Roost

Dayton And Salem Local On Top In First Voting

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dayton Roosevelt and Salem Local, 1960 state champions, still rule Ohio's high school basketball domain.

In the first Associated Press poll of the season, 38 sports editors today voted the defending kings best in their class.

Roosevelt, with a 9-0 record for the current campaign, piled up a 320 to 137 landslide in poll points over former champion Cleveland East Tech on the 10-9-8-etc. voting basis in Class AA.

Salem Local, 8-0 in Class A, was a 128 to 99 poll point choice over Ayersville's 1957 state champs although the Defiance County crew, with a 12-0 record, drew nine first place votes to the Urbana club's eight.

Of the top 10 in Class AA, five are still unbeaten. East Tech has dropped a pair, but was still so highly regarded the Scarabs grabbed the runnerup spot. Six of the top 10 Class A teams are still clean, tenth-place Kingman of Clinton County leading the pack with 13 in a row. Fremont St. Joe, a shaky sixth just one point ahead of 1956 champion Arcanum, has dropped two of eight.

Only 14 of the 38 voters were from the bottom half of the state, but 11 of the top 20 teams, six in Class AA and five in Class A, represent rebel country.

Unbeaten teams failing to make the top 10 in Class AA include Sheridan with 13-0; Athens, Cleveland St. Joseph and Warrensville with 11-0; Wooster and Elmwood with 10-0; Columbus Linden, Gahanna Lincoln, Cleveland West Tech and Newton Falls with 9-0, and Franklin 7-0.

Among Class A clean teams failing to make the top 10 were Freeport with 12; Crockville and Radnor with 11; Stanton Local (Rondale) 10; Dover St. Joe; New Bremen and West Branch (Mahoning) 8, and Portsmouth East 7.

This and that: Kingman won its 13th game on Friday the 13th.

Back in 1941 Glenford of Perry County won the Class A state title. In 1942 Somerset of Perry County grabbed the crown. Now the two schools have consolidated with Thornville, and the new institution is known as Sheridan. And Sheridan is the pace-setter in Class AA with 13 wins. The new school is 10 boys over the Class A limit.

In its last four games South Centra, a new Huron County consolidated school, has hit for 99, 98, 84 and 87 points. Gil Ray of Mansfield, a 5-9 junior who plays with a boxing-type headguard to protect an old injury, scored 25 against Columbus South and 29 against Lima Central Catholic Friday and Saturday—and is averaging 21.8.

Lorain has a 6-3 record, two of the losses being one-pointers. Fremont St. Joe's 6-3 senior, Joe Overmyer, is averaging 20.5. Chillicothe (8-1) has a great one-two punch in Gary Hall (average 21) and Dick Harris (average 16.2).

Cleveland East Tech, which lost a two-pointer to Akron Central and a five-pointer to Dayton Dunbar, loses two key boys via mid-year graduation. One is Earl Johnson, the top scorer with an 18-point average.

Crestview, the team snuggled in third place in the Class A poll with a 12-0 record, is located at Convey in Van Wert County. Of the 105 teams in the Cleveland area, only three—St. Joseph, Warrensville and West Tech—are unbeaten.

Liberty of Youngstown, after several good Class AA campaigns, dropped back to Class A this year and has a 9-1 record. Four of the wins have been over AA teams, including Chaney — Youngstown's top quintet.

Springfield South's Wildcats, 1925 and 1950 Class AA champs, ended a four-game losing streak by nosing out Bellefontaine 54-52 Saturday. At the same time Springfield North saw its seven-game victory string snapped 66-56 by Cincinnati Hughes.

Elyria Catholic, which lost 18 straight last year, has a 7-5 record—including a pair of wins over classy Lorain St. Mary which is 7-3.

Hamilton Garfield and Portsmouth, third and fourth in Class AA with 8-1 records, should stay away from each other. Garfield beat Portsmouth 55-48 at Portsmouth, and the Trojans nipped Garfield at Hamilton last week 74-65. In the two games, Ports-

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Qualifiers for 16 open professional spots in Bing Crosby's $50,000 national pro-amateur golf classic were fighting it out today over the treacherous Pebble Beach course preparatory to the start of championship play Thursday.

YMCA Adult League Opens Play Tonight

Six teams will open play in the YMCA Adult League tonight starting at 8:30. Eckstein's will meet Weekley's in the opening game. Anderson's and Hale's are scheduled for 7:30 while Adkins and Hague's meet in the final game of the evening starting at 8:30.

Survivors of the qualifying test will fill out a field of 150 of the world's finest professionals, paired with an equal number of classy amateurs in this 20th playing of the famed Crosby clam-bake.

Defending titlist Ken Venturi, now shooting some of his best golf, will be on hand to attempt the difficult and rarely accomplished feat of repeating against the likes of Arnold Palmer plus a host of other former Crosby champions and tournamentwise aces.

Palmer, noted for his surging finishes and leading money winner in the nation last year, will undoubtedly be the man to watch after coming from four strokes behind to win the San Diego Open Sunday in a "sudden death" play-off with Canada's Al Balding.

In the pro-amateur event, which along with the professional competition makes the Crosby a double tournament, Louisiana's Jay Hebert and his five-handicap amateur partner, Roger Kelly, will be on hand again to try to duplicate their 1958 victory.

Bud Ward and Bob Silvestri, pro-am winners last year, are teamed again in defense of their title.

Utica, Westmont, Albany, Plymouth and New Albany 6; Lincolnview, Xenia Woodrow Wilson, Trenton, Bettisville, Carthage Troy and Reynoldsburg 5; Copley, Akron St. Mary, Kingston, Columbus St. Charles, Waynesville and Columbus University 4; Atwater, Greenon, New Miami, Lancaster St. Mary, Pickerington, Southwestern, South Central and Plymouth 30 Suffield, Marysville, Mansfield St. Peter, Riverside (Logan), Seven Mile, Houston, McArthur, Miller City and Millersport 2; Twinsburg, Lanier, Amanda-Clearcreek, Holgate, Carlisle, Attica, Mogadore and Waterloo 1.

Okla. State Pulls Upset; Stage Set For Kansas Duel

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Kansas State was all alone at the top of the Big Eight basketball conference today after Oklahoma State's Cowboys rode herd on Kansas and knocked the Jayhawks out of first place.

Tenth ranked Kansas State, beaten in a playoff last spring by Kansas for the right to enter the NCAA tournament, is primed to meet Kansas in a major showdown Friday night on the Jayhawk court at Lawrence. Last month in the Big Eight tournament, K-State beat Kansas in overtime in the finals, 69-66.

The tight defense and controlled offense of Coach Hank Iba's Oklahoma State crew paid off Monday night at Lawrence, and it was the coach's son, Moe, who clinched the 54-49 decision.

With the Cowboys leading only 50-49 and 34 seconds left, young Iba sank two free throws and Kansas was done, suffering their initial conference defeat after three victories.

Two of the top 10 teams in The Associated Press poll saw action, with fourth-ranked Iowa coming from behind in the last half on Don Nelson's 18 points to beat Illinois 78-71 in a Big Ten Conference game. Iowa, now 12-1 for the season, remains in the Big Ten lead with a 4-0 mark. Nelson finished with 25 points, while Jerry Colangelo had 20 for Illinois.

North Carolina (No. 6) ran up its ninth straight victory for an 11-2 overall mark by downing Maryland 58-52 in an Atlantic Coast Conference tilt. The Tar Heels now boast a 4-0 league mark, right after eighth-ranked Duke (5-0), idle until after mid-term examinations. Doug More got 26 points for North Carolina, which scored its final 12 points from the free throw line.

Mississippi State took over undisputed lead in the Southeastern Conference (4-0) by defeating Georgia Tech 62-61 in overtime. State's Jerry Graves came up with six points, four in the final minute of the extra session and totaled 23 for the evening. Roger Kaiser tallied 31 for Georgia Tech.

Vanderbilt, which had an 11-0 record before losing Saturday to Mississippi State, dropped a second straight conference game when Mississippi beat the Commodores 74-72. The teams were tied 11 times before the Rebels

Ohio U. Upsets Toledo To Take Over M-A Lead

By The Associated Press
The Toledo Rockets fizzled out on the Ohio University launching pad Monday night.

As a result:
The Bobcats replaced Toledo as Mid-American Conference basketball leader.

The Rockets' 10-game winning streak, after they lost their opener to Southern Illinois, ground to a halt.

And Bobcat Larry Kruger showed he's a boy to be reckoned with as he flipped in 28 points, more than half his team's total in the 55-50 victory over Toledo.

In other games on the Ohio cage scene, Dan Jordan collected 23 points to lead Otterbein to a 73-59 Ohio Conference triumph over Kenyon; and Central State, despite a 25-point performance by Russell Turner, lost 89-80 to West Virginia State.

Ohio U., whose conference record soared to 5-0 while Toledo dropped to 3-1, got off to an early 7-3 lead. But the Rockets tied it at 7-all, then went out in front by 10 points at 21-11 and held a 27-23 halftime advantage.

That's when Kruger really started to click. He scored nine points in a row to single-handedly erase a 34-29 Toledo lead and put his team ahead 38-34.

The Rockets tied it twice after that, at 38 and 42. But Bunk Adams, second highest scoring Bobcat with 16 points, sank a field goal to put Ohio out front to stay at 44-42. The winners then built up as much as a nine-point margin.

New Cincy U. Football Coach Picks His Staff

CINCINNATI (AP)—The football staff at the University of Cincinnati picked by new head coach Chuck Studley Monday includes three men from his 1960 staff at the University of Massachusetts.

Studley also retained Mike Scarry and Bob Miller, assistants under outgoing coach George Blackburn.

Studley's associates from Massachusetts are Dick Anderson, backfield specialist; Bob Delaney, end coach, and Dick MacPherson, freshman coach.

Scarry was a defensive line coach and Miller defensive backfield coach under Blackburn.

Weirton Football Star Reaps Honors At Fete

WEIRTON (AP)—If he were just two weeks younger, Weirton High School's flashy halfback, Bob Kelly, would have another season of football stardom.

But because he will turn 19 the middle of next August, Kelly won't be able to participate in another high school campaign although he's just a junior this year. The regulation says that a West Virginia high school player is ineligible for the season following his 19th birthday if the anniversary falls before Sept. 1 of that year.

His coach, Jim Carey, told sports writers attending last night's Victory Awards Dinner here that Kelly is the finest high school player he had ever seen.

"His reflexes are so fast that although he is our safety man, he backs up the line," Carey said. "He can go back that fast on a pass play."

Kelly was the recipient of three awards at the 16th annual affair.

FIGHT RESULTS

New Orleans — Ralph Dupas, 145½, New Orleans, won over Antonio Marcilla, 144, Argentina. (Marcilla disqualified in 9th round for butting).

New York — Yama Bahama, 156, Bimini, Bahamas, and Ted Wright, 153½, Detroit, 10-round draw.

Lane May Try To Lure 4 Young Indians To KC

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—When Frank Lane left Cleveland to become general manager of the Kansas City Athletics, he left behind four young Indians he would have loved to have taken along. Don't be surprised if the master trader tries to lure these kids away from the Tribe.

The four are southpaw Sam McDowell, 18, right-hander Frank Funk, 24, outfielder Ty Cline, 19, and first baseman Hal Jones, 22. McDowell is the 6-5 bonus boy Cleveland signed last summer and sent to Lakeland, Fla., where he won 6 of 11 decisions.

Funk was purchased from Toronto last September in time to make nine relief appearances with the Indians. He won four, lost two and posted a spectacular 1.97 earned run average.

Cline appears to be the best outfield prospect to come to the Indians since Rocky Colavito. The youngster, in his first year in organized ball, batted .311 in 95 games at Mobile last season. Brought up by the Indians in September, he hit .308 in seven games.

Jones is a slugging first baseman who batted .299 at Reading last year and led the Eastern League in homers with 34, and runs batted in with 104.

Outfielder Walter Bond, who made such a splash in spring training last year only to cool off later, is back after hitting .316 in 74 games at Vancouver.

Other rookie outfielders include Dave Dillard, 24, a 294 hitter at Toronto, Al Luplow, 21, .293 at Reading and .260 at Mobile; and John McLane, 22, .275 at Mobile. Other new infielders are Steve Demeter, 25, a third baseman who batted .261 at Toronto; and Gordon Lund, 18, a shortstop, who hit .265 at Lakeland in his first professional year.

Canadiens' Moore Regains 2nd Spot In NHL Scoring

MONTREAL (AP) — Dickie Moore of the Montreal Canadiens came up with the best point production last week among the top men scrambling for the National Hockey League scoring leadership and regained second place.

Moore collected four goals and two assists for six points. With his present total of 55 points he is seven behind teammate Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffroy and one ahead of Frank Mahovlich of Toronto Maple Leafs, according to official statistics released today.

Geoffroy, who missed Montreal's last game because of an injury, scored one goal and three assists in two previous games during the week. He has 62 points on 27 goals and 35 assists. Moore has a 30-25 count.

Mahovlich tapered off on his prodigious goal production, scoring only one and no assists in three games. But he is still well out in front on goals scored, with 37. Moore is closest with 30. With 17 assists, Mahovlich's point total is 54.

Face Guards With Multiple Bars Set For Ohio Gridders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high school football players will be required to wear face guards with multiple bars during the 1962 season.

And next fall they are urged to wear a face guard of some kind, under action taken Monday night as the state board of control approved a recommendation by the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association.

After approving the coaches' plan for 1961, the board made the "multiple bar" feature mandatory for 1962.

Ohio high schools now play football under national intercollegiate rules, with modifications, but a committee is studying whether regulations of the National High School Federation should be adopted.

If the change is made, the Buckeye players would be required in 1962 to use a fitted flexible mouth and tooth protector in addition to the multiple bar face guard, as required by the federation.

2 Gunmen Hit Loan Concern For $7,000

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two gunmen invaded a downtown savings and loan firm Monday, herded two women employees into a back room, and fled with an estimated $7,000, police reported.

Investigators said the bandits entered Home State Savings Association about 6:30 p.m., and took the money at gunpoint from Mrs. Mae Chitwood, 39, the manager.

Work On Center Due

CLEVELAND (AP) — Work begins this week on a $2.5 million shopping center in suburban Independence. The center, in colonial style architecture in keeping with other buildings in the village, is scheduled for completion Oct. 1. It will have 22 stores and 25 offices and occupy a 12-acre site on U.S. 21 just north of Independence High School.

Hagerty And ABC Public Service

After years of faithful concentration on Westerns and crime shows, the American Broadcasting Co. is making a bid for public service recognition with the appointment of presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty to the post of vice president in charge of news and public affairs. While some industry skeptics interpret the engagement as an ABC desire for a news "figurehead," it would seem unlikely that ABC would call attention to its news operation by appointing Hagerty if it intended to keep such programming under electronic wraps.

Furthermore, Hagerty is and always has been a staunch believer in the medium's journalistic potential, as evidenced by the important role he played in opening presidential press conferences to television.

HIS SINCERITY and determination to create an effective worldwide news staff as ABC is reflected, in a small way, in what Hagerty says about his annual $50,000 salary.

"I didn't want more," he says. "I want the pay to be commensurate with my efforts. In other words, if I do well, I expect to be compensated. But I want to earn the right to make more money."

What Hagerty and ABC are aiming for is a complete overhauling of the news-public affairs division and, coincidentally, combatting aspersions on the network's corporate outlook.

As recently as last November, NBC chairman Robert W. Sarnoff leveled a blistering attack at ABC for its limited public affairs output.

"ITS MEAGER scattering of programs in the whole field of news and public affairs," said Sarnoff, in a speech before NBC affiliates, "recalls Samuel Johnson's remark about a woman preaching: Like a dog's walking on its hind legs, it is not done well, but you are surprised to find it done at all."

Mr. Sarnoff further noted that ABC had been winning a larger share of the TV audience by concentrating on popular Westerns and crime shows and neglecting the public service obligation accepted by NBC and CBS.

It cannot be said, however, that ABC has been oblivious to its shortcomings in the area of public service.

"But," says Leonard H. Golden, president of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters, Inc., "we had to do first things first. Now that our position has been solidified in the more profitable area of entertainment, we can afford to put emphasis on news-public affairs. We intend to be completely competitive with NBC and CBS in this area of programming."

ABC's answer to this was that so long as a network retains the final power to decide whether a documentary should be seen or not, TV can profit fully from the experience of producers of motion picture documentaries.

This theory was put to a successful test some weeks ago with the showing of "Yanki, No." in which the cameras, rather than the narrator, told most of the story.

Independently produced documentaries aside, Hagerty approaches his new assignment with no promises of overnight miracles.

"Ours," he said, "is a long-range plan. If we can have an effective worldwide news staff in two or three years from now, we'll not only feel lucky, but darned proud."

THE DEBATERS on "The Nation's Future" next Saturday will be Thomas E. Dewey and Hugh Gaitskell (leader of the British Labor party since 1955), who will tackle the question: "Should the West Modify Its Policy Toward the Soviet Union?"

Early morning viewers of "Continental Classroom" will be taught "in color," beginning Jan. 30 when NBC adds the educational program to the growing list of tinted programs.

Hugh O'Brian of "Wyatt Earp" fame removes the holster to co-star with Howard St. John in "The Secret Rebel," a dramatization about John Honeyman, American history's first counterespionage and martyr of the revolution in 1776, on "Our American Heritage" March 11.

Ike, Diefenbaker Signing Pact For River Resources

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker sign a treaty today for cooperative U.S.-Canadian development of vast resources of the Columbia River.

Diefenbaker flew in from Ottawa Monday night for the signing and lunch at the White House.

Diefenbaker hailed the treaty as an example of international cooperation which the world should follow. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicted the pact may sail through on a unanimous vote when the Senate gets around to voting on it.

The treaty, whose exact terms were kept secret in advance of signing, would seal terms drawn up during two years of joint study and negotiations.

The negotiators agreed on a compact of at least 60 years aimed at cooperatively developing the basin of the Columbia River for the benefit of millions of people on both sides of the border.

The river, which flows into the Pacific between Washington and Oregon, has a drainage area of 219,500 square miles in northwestern America and 39,500 square miles in British Columbia.

Pickets Force Cancellation Of Train Runs

NEW YORK (AP)—Picketing of Grand Central Terminal by striking harbor craft crewmen forced cancellation of some long-distance trains today by the New York Central and New Haven railroads and threatened commuter service.

The cancellations were ordered when railroad workers who put the trains together and handle switching at the big terminal refused to cross the marine strikers' picket lines.

The New York Central and New Haven, both of which use Grand Central, said they would try to run normal commuter service.

The pickets indicated they might try to halt service on the Pennsylvania Railroad and extend their blockade to other East Coast cities.

The Pennsylvania and the Long Island Rail Road—which is owned by the Pennsylvania and uses Pennsylvania Station along with the P.R.R.—reported normal operations.

The New York Central said Monday night that all passenger service in and out of Grand Central might be halted today.

The strike, which started a week ago, is by 660 crewmen of tugboats and ferryboats of 11 railroads which operate in New York harbor. Three unions and the railroads are deadlocked over contract terms. The size of tugboat crews—now generally five men—is the chief issue in dispute.
